British Hoping Nazi Foes Will Fight Fuehrer

London Cites 'Serious' Revolt in Bohemia-Moravia

REPORT DENIED

Statement on Rebellion Is Called 'Nonsense' in Berlin

London—(P)—British government allegations of a "serious" revolt in Bohemia and Moravia—parts of Czechoslovakia which Germany absorbed—were cited today as packing British hopes of enlisting Germany's anti-nazis in the fight against Adolf Hitler.

(In Berlin, the British reports of an organized revolt were described as "nonsense" by a spokesman for Baron Konstantin von Neurath, reich's protector for Bohemia and Moravia. He invited correspondents to visit Prague to see for themselves.

(The British did not give the sources of their information.)

A ministry of information communique said Britain had received authoritative information a revolutionary movement had started last Sunday in Bohemia and Moravia and was continuing despite "ruthless" repression measures.

"That this is not just a flash in the pan," the ministry said, "is shown by the unanimity of purpose, the tenacity and the discipline of the participants."

Benes Quoted

It was recalled in London that Eduard Benes, former president of the Czechoslovak republic, told Prime Minister Chamberlain only two days after Britain's declaration of war:

"We Czechoslovak citizens consider ourselves as being also at war with Germany's military forces."

The information ministry, describing the uprising, said "firearms were used on both sides and casualties were said to have been considerable."

On Sept. 19, the communique went on, Slovak garrison at several places revolted and "about 15,000 troops have been disarmed." Arrests throughout the protectorate, the statement said, "ran into thousands, those executed into hundreds."

In the course of the revolt, which began with labor disturbances in Prague, the information ministry said, "bridges on important railways and roads were damaged, fire stations put out of action, rolling stock and material damaged, workshops of important factories bombed and machinery destroyed."

Back Chamberlain
The British press, meanwhile, gave unanimous endorsement to Prime Minister Chamberlain's address before the house of commons yesterday, in which he answered Adolf Hitler's Danzig speech and asserted Britain's war efforts would be "the utmost of which she is capable."

In a broadcast to the defenders of Warsaw, Count Raczynski, Polish ambassador in London, predicted last night the Polish army, being aided in France would "return with victorious banners" to the homeland.

The British people, still smarting from the sinking of the aircraft carrier Courageous by a German submarine, read with satisfaction Chamberlain's report that "six or seven" U-boats had been destroyed. The press estimated one-fifth of Germany's submarines large enough to operate on trade routes had been put out of action.

WOMEN AGE MORE GRACEFULLY

There were 40,544 women and 26,117 men 90 years of age or older at the last U.S. census. So there are 14,427 more very aged women than men. These figures may or may not be exact, because both women and men are equally inclined to forget their birthday anniversaries up to and including the seventy-fifth, but after that they are as likely as not to add five or ten years to the truth. When it comes to figuring—oh well, count the classified want-ads in The Post-Crescent News, for exercise. This one added a sale:

Iron Guardists' Coup Feared as Premier Is Shot

TROOPS SUMMONED

Diplomats Call Murder 'Highly Significant' Due To Nazi Advance

Bucharest via Copenhagen—(P)—Premier Armand Calinescu was shot and killed today by men officially identified as iron guardists and troops were called up at once to prevent a coup.

The assassination of Calinescu—known as Rumania's "strong man" for his suppression of the outlawed, pro-nazi iron guard organization—was attributed to conflicting national interests arising from the European war.

It came as German and Russian troops approached the Rumanian frontier in their occupation of Poland. Rumania got one-seventh of her territory from Russia in the World war settlement.

Calinescu was machine-gunned in his automobile by masked men. Other masked men seized the Bucharest radio station but were subsequently arrested.

Late today a communique read over the station formally accused the slayers of being members of the pro-nazi iron guard.

Suspects Arrested

"This afternoon, Premier Calinescu was murdered in a cowardly manner near his home," the communique said. "The murderers, who are members of the former iron guard, have been arrested."

It said a new premier already had been chosen but failed to give his name. He was to be sworn in late in the afternoon, after which a meeting of the new cabinet would be held.

The communique announced that "perfect order and calm reigns throughout the country."

The British-French allies and Germany were engaged in a bitter struggle, each attempting to influence Rumania's policy to their advantage. Calinescu had been known as an advocate of political and economic cooperation with Britain and France.

Rumania's oil, needed by Germany's mechanized army and her air force, was the major prize.

On Budapest, Rumanian diplomats said the slaying was "highly significant just at a moment when German and Russian troops are approaching the frontier."

Report Bremen in Hands of British

No Official Denials Made In London; Berlin Says Ship in Russia

London—(P)—Reports the liner Bremen, pride of Germany's merchant fleet, had been captured by the royal navy and escorted into a British port gained prevalence today in the absence of government denials.

(In Berlin for the third time in a week the Bremen was reported to have reached Murmansk, soviet Russian port on the Arctic ocean. The latest report was said to come from "a competent neutral.")

The British Press association, commenting on the reports, said stories that the Bremen was on the way to England had been current for several days. The Bremen sailed from New York Aug. 30.

"Though no official confirmation was forthcoming in London this morning," the press association said, "the story of the liner's capture was not denied."

(In New Orleans, Baron Edgar von Spiegel, German consul general, was quoted as saying the Bremen was "safe and sound" in the soviet Russian port of Murmansk. Spiegel, who did not give the source of his information, said the liner had "requred 12 days to outmaneuver enemy warships in a brilliant dash" to safety.)

(Arrival of the Bremen at Murmansk was reported Sept. 14 by informants close to the German navy, but the report was not confirmed by soviet authorities.)

Embargo Is 'Most Vitally Dangerous to Security and Peace,' Roosevelt Asserts

Text of Roosevelt Address

Washington—(P)—The text of President Roosevelt's message to congress follows:

I have asked the congress to reassemble in extraordinary session in order that it may consider and act on the amendment of certain legislation which, in my best judgment, so alters the historic foreign policy of the United States that it impairs the peaceful relations of the United States with foreign nations.

At the outset I proceed on the assumption that every member of the senate and of the house of representatives, and every member of the executive branch of the government, including the president and his associates, personally and officially, are equally and without reservation in favor of such measures as will protect the neutrality, the safety and the integrity of our country and at the same time keep us out of war.

Because I am wholly willing to ascribe an honorable desire for peace to those who hold different views from my own as to what those measures should be, I trust that these gentlemen will be sufficiently generous to ascribe equally lofty purposes to those with whom they disagree.

Let no man or group in any walk of life assume exclusive protectorate over the future well-being of America—because I conceive that regardless of party or section the mantle of peace and of patriotism is wide enough to cover us all.

Let no group assume the exclusive label of the peace "bloc." We all belong to it.

I have at all times kept the congress and the American people informed of events and trends in foreign affairs. I now review them in a spirit of understanding.

Since 1931 the use of force instead of the council table has constantly increased in the settlement of disputes between nations—except in Turn to page 21 col. 2

Congressional Leaders Meet To Plan Their Strategy in Battle Over U. S. Neutrality

Washington—Even before President Roosevelt delivered his message urging repeal of the arms embargo provisions of the neutrality law, the battle over the form neutrality shall take was underway in the capitol.

Administration lieutenants, apprised of the general position of the president, as made known at the bipartisan conference at the White House yesterday were starting work on a bill substituting "cash and carry" for the arms embargo, and at the same time seventeen senators opposed to the repeal of arms embargo met in the office of Senator Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota Republican, to plan their strategy of opposition.

Republicans present included Borah of Idaho, Vandenberg of Michigan, Nye of North Dakota, Johnson of California, Gurney of South Dakota, Tobey of New Hampshire, Frazier of North Dakota, Arbour of New Jersey, Danaher of Connecticut, and Capper of Kansas.

Democrats present were Clark of Missouri, McCarran of Nevada, Hottel of West Virginia, and Bulow of South Dakota. Others were Shipstead and Lundeen, Farmer-Laborites of Minnesota, and LaFollette, Wisconsin Progressive.

On high authority it was stated that Mr. Roosevelt had expressed the hope congress would finish its work on neutrality and adjourn speedily. This was in response to a suggestion made to him by Alf M. London, titular Republican leader, that the national legislature should meet continually throughout the European war.

The president proposed that four congressional leaders remain in the capitol after adjournment for constant consultation on the international situation.

This quartet would consist of Senators Barkley of Kentucky, and McNary of Oregon, the Democratic and Turn to page 29 col. 7

Dies Says Witness Is Still Evading Subpena

Washington—(P)—Chairman Dies (D-Texas) of the house committee investigating un-American activities said today Charles Recht, a New York lawyer and "an important witness sought for questioning, is still evading service of a subpoena."

Information that Swedish artillery units had been practicing on a low island several miles south of Sore Church offered a possible explanation today for the sounds of heavy cannonading that yesterday alarmed fisherfolk along the east coast of Jutland.

Some of those who head the firing insisted, however, that the cannonading was too heavy to fit this explanation.

The sounds, they said, bore a strong resemblance to the thunder of heavy naval guns audible here during the World war battle of Jutland (May 31, 1918).

Others point out that it is well-known that acoustics play strange tricks in these waters.

Congress Members Grave As Special Session Starts

GALLERIES FILLED

Atmosphere Reminiscent Of Meetings During World War

Washington—(P)—Congress met in extraordinary session today to begin consideration of America's neutral course in a war-ravaged world.

White-haired Vice President Garner and stooping, broad-shouldered Speaker Bankhead rapped the senate and house to order shortly after noon (11 a. m. C. S. T.) less than seven weeks after adjournment of the last regular session.

To capitol veterans the scenes in both chambers, characterized by an atmosphere of extraordinary gravity, were reminiscent of the sessions of 25 years ago when, as now, the talk was all of "neutrality" and "keeping the United States out of war."

Unusual police precautions were taken. Kenneth Romney, house sergeant-at-arms, reported heavy details of secret service and metropolitan police, both uniformed and in plain clothes, surrounded the capitol and were stationed at every entrance.

Won't Call up Bill Representative Gavanagh (D-N. Y.) author of the anti-lynching bill which under regular legislative procedure would be called up in the house on Monday, said today he would not call up the measure during the session "unless it is unduly prolonged or extraneous matters are introduced."

He indicated, however, that he would bring the bill up should a filibuster against the administration filibuster program develop in the senate.

In the senate public galleries had been filled for an hour before the chamber convened.

As Garner's gavel banged, quiet fell and the Rev. Barney Phillips, senate chaplain, opened the session with a prayer for "men of good will" in the days ahead. Reading of the president's proclamation followed.

France Will Not Abandon Fight

Daladier Pledges Nation To 'Complete Victory' Over Nazis

Paris—(P)—Premier Daladier, in a broadcast to the world tonight on France's determination not to abandon her fight against Adolf Hitler, associated the United States with his own country and with Britain in the failure to prevent "The German destruction of Poland."

Paris—(P)—Premier Daladier broadcast to the world tonight a declaration of France's determination never to abandon her fight to aid Poland until Adolf Hitler's efforts "to dominate the world" have been crushed by a "complete victory" over the Nazi forces.

The stubby premier interrupted—as far as France was concerned—the worldwide broadcast of President Roosevelt's neutrality message to congress to declare with his own voice that France never would make peace until peace was established on a "solid, lasting basis."

Teachers' Colleges Will Ask Additional Funds for Operating

Madison—(P)—With enrollment at Wisconsin's nine teachers colleges 10 per cent higher than last year, Edgar G. Doudna, secretary of the regent board, said today an allotment of additional operating funds would be sought from the state emergency board.

The $1,758,500 allotted to the colleges in the state budget for 1939-40 was $195,700 less than the amount appropriated for 1938-39, Doudna said.

"We are operating on the theory that we will be given relief," he asserted. "If we are not we will have to make it up in the last quarter of this school year by cutting teachers' salaries and operating expenses."

Total enrollment at the colleges, he said, is 7,990 to date this year, as compared to 5,787 last year. Late enrollment may boost this year's total to 11 or 12 per cent above the 1938-39 figure, he added.

Congressman Bolles Is Against Embargo Repeal

Washington—(P)—Representative Bolles (R-Wis.) describes himself as "militantly against" lifting the arms-ammunition embargo to belligerent nations.

He thinks lifting the embargo would amount to becoming an ally of "somebody who benefits from it."

Senator LaFollette Asks Heil to Order 3rd District Election

Madison—(P)—United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette has asked Governor Heil to call a special election in the Third congressional district to fill the vacancy in the house of representatives caused by the death of Harry W. Griswold (R) of West Salem.

Declaring that because of the European war "every man is needed to keep America from the wasteful struggle overseas," Senator LaFollette wrote in a letter dated Sept. 19 that these "crucial times" prompted him to urge issuance of an election order.

"Under ordinary circumstances I would not approach you with suggestions involving the exercise of your executive power," he said.

LaFollette said he had been informed through the press that the governor considered the cost of a special election unwarranted.

"The cost of a special election in dollars would be trifling indeed compared to the loss of sons, husbands and fathers which the third district would be called upon to furnish if this nation were dragged into the bloody conflict in Europe," LaFollette contended.

Reorganization of Service Body Has Assembly Backing

House Concurs With Senate, 51 to 45, After Long Battle

Madison—(P)—After a long parliamentary battle the assembly today concurred 51 to 45, in the senate bill reorganizing the public service commission.

Progressive leaders, in an attempt to prevent the bill going to Governor Heil, sought non-concurrence but lost on a tie vote with many members absent.

Then they resorted to a series of house calls which tied up procedure and kept the assembly in session for several hours past the usual recess time before the passage vote was reached.

The bill, which would abolish the present three-man commission and substitute a director, has one more hurdle to clear before it can become law.

Assemblyman Mark Catlin (R), Appleton, moved reconsideration to expedite action. His motion was scheduled to be voted on at the first session following tomorrow's meeting, and if the majority again prevails the bill will go to the governor.

Poland's Leaders Will Be Interned By Rumanian Regime

Bucharest—(P)—Authoritative sources said today that the Rumanian government had decided to intern Polish President Ignace Moesicki, Foreign Minister Josef Beck and other high civil officials as well as Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz Polish army commander.

All had crossed the frontier from Poland into Rumania.

Smigly-Rydz was interned yesterday and sent to enforced domicile at Craiova, near the junction of the Rumania-Bulgarian frontiers.

Both Britain and France had appealed that he be allowed to leave the country, while nazis insisted he be interned like any other soldier.

It also was reported reliably yesterday that, after a complaint to the Rumanian police by the German consul at Cernauti, General Josef Halter, founder of the Polish legion in France during the World war, had been interned by Rumania authorities.

Says Utilities Must Drop Rate Cut Plans

Milwaukee—(P)—Bruno Rahn, president of the Wisconsin Utilities association, told the group's accounting section today that emergency war conditions, creating higher operating expenses, would compel electric and gas companies to abandon rate reduction programs.

If higher operating costs are created by war price conditions, he said, establishment of a flexible system of rates would be necessary so utilities could adjust themselves and thus insure continued reliable service.

Rahn, president of the Milwaukee Gas Light company said utilities are eager to cooperate with the war resources board set up by President Roosevelt.

Thinks U. S. Will Succeed in Keeping Out of War

LISTS HIS AIMS

Would Limit Ships, Travel and Ban Credits; For 'Cash-and-Carry'

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for repeal of the arms embargo provisions of the neutrality law because they are "most vitally dangerous to American neutrality, American security and American peace."

In a message delivered in person to an extraordinary session of the legislators, the chief executive said he could offer no hope that "the shadow over the world might swiftly pass."

Standing on the rostrum of a crowded house chamber, Mr. Roosevelt told senators and representatives he had assembled them to amend legislation which in his best judgment, "so alters the historic foreign policy of the United States that it impairs the peaceful relations of the United States with foreign nations."

The "crux" of the issue, he said, was repeal of the embargo, which forbids shipments of munitions to combatant nations, and a "return to international law."

Reassures Nation The president took occasion, too, to renew his plea for non-partisanship during the present international crisis and to reassure the nation of his belief that America could keep from being embroiled in Europe's conflict.

"Let no man or group in any walk of life," the president said, "assume exclusive protectorate over the future well-being of America—because I conceive that regardless of party or section the mantle of peace and patriotism is wide enough to cover us all."

"Let no group assume the exclusive label of the peace 'bloc.' We all belong to it."

Mr. Roosevelt added that "in my judgment" the United States would "succeed in these efforts" to keep out of war.

When and if the embargo is scrapped, the president said there were other phases of policy "re-enforcing American safety" that should be considered. He listed:

Restricting American merchant vessels, so far as possible, from entering danger zones.

Preventing American citizens from traveling on belligerent vessels.

Requiring foreign buyers to take transfer of title in this country to commodities bought by belligerents. (Cash-and-carry.)

Preventing extension of war credits to belligerents.

Two other objectives, the chief executive said, have been attained amply under existing law. These are the regulation of collections of funds in this country for belligerents and the maintenance of a license system covering foreign trade in arms, ammunition and implements of war.

Must Meet Needs The president left to congress, however, a choice of methods by which these "safeguards" should be set up—"so long as the method chosen will meet the needs of new and changing day to day situations and dangers."

"To those who say that this program would involve a step toward war on our part," the chief executive asserted, "I reply that it offers far greater safeguards than we now possess or have ever possessed to protect American lives and property from danger."

"It is a positive program for giving safety. This means less likelihood of incidents and controversies which tend to draw us into conflict, as they did in the last World war."

"There lies the road to peace."

After relating steps already taken to strengthen the nation's defense, he turned to page 2 col. 1

Tavern League Wants Curb on Sale of Beer

Wausau—(P)—The Tavern League of Wisconsin adopted yesterday a resolution to seek legislation barring beer sales by any place without a license to dispense intoxicating liquor.

The league voted to sponsor a bill requiring any person obtaining a Class A (malt beverage) license also to obtain a Class B (intoxicating liquor) license. The resolution proposed a $100 minimum license.

Supporters of the resolution declared stores and restaurants which now dispense beer would be eliminated from competition with taverns should such a measure become law.

Another resolution asked a statewide sanitary code for the industry, to be administered by the state beverage tax division.

Halifax Explains Failure to Go to Help of Poland

Says Allies Must Not Do Anything That 'Does Not Contribute to Victory'

London.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax today declared "we must not undertake anything that does not directly contribute to victory in the European war, in commenting on the failure of Poland to get help."

Speaking in the house of lords, Lord Halifax said: "One of the major tragedies of the last few weeks was that we should have had to watch the resistance of a gallant nation overcome without ourselves being able to render such direct assistance as might have produced different results. I have felt it every hour and every moment."

"But we must not lose sight of our main objective in this war—victory—and we must not undertake anything that does not directly contribute to that victory or which might mitigate against it."

War Supply Council
Leslie Burgin, minister of supply, at the same time told the house of commons of creation of a war supply council and broad plans to use "every ounce of endeavor and ton of output" in Britain in the drive to win the war.

Giving the nation a glimpse of the extent of the weapons Britain was forging, Burgin declared his department had placed orders for war supplies exceeding $70,000,000 (currently $277,200,000) since the outbreak of hostilities.

Burgin will head the supply council with Sir Harold Brown as director of munitions production and Lord Weir as director general of explosives.

In an effort to allay fears of a repetition of the World War shell shortage, Burgin told the house 700 firms were making shells or their component parts and 6,500 contractors were working for the ministry of supply on a nationwide scale.

Of the 700 firms making shells he said that was "a number being added to every day."

Embargo Threat To U.S. Security, Roosevelt Says

tenser, Mr. Roosevelt said he saw no need for additional legislation under further executive action under his proclamation of a limited state of national emergency.

Mr. Roosevelt said the executive branch of the government had done its utmost, within a traditional policy of non-involvement, "to aid in averting the present appalling war."

"Having thus striven and failed," he said, "this government must lose no time or effort to keep the nation from being drawn into the war."

Here he predicted success "in these efforts."

No Early Peace
Before closing, the president expressed his desire to be able to "offer the hope that the shadow over the world might swiftly pass." But he said:

"I cannot. The facts compel my stating, with candor, that darker periods may lie ahead."

Mr. Roosevelt said the disaster abroad was not of American making, but that "we find ourselves affected to the core, our currents of commerce are changing, our minds are filled with new problems, our position in world affairs has already been altered."

A moment later he asserted: "Fate seems now to compel us to assume the task of helping to maintain in the western world a citadel where the civilization may be kept alive. The peace, the integrity and the safety of the Americas—these must be kept firm and serene."

Monroe Doctrine
Thus the president, for some of his audience, gave reassurances that the United States would stand firmly behind the Monroe doctrine.

His message also gave his backing to the neutrality proposals transmitted to congress at its last session by Secretary Hull.

Before Mr. Roosevelt drove to the capital to address the congress called together only seven weeks after adjourning the regular session, 17 senators opposed to repeal

Milk Pool Board to Ponder Replacement Of General Manager

Replacement of C. E. Woody, state general manager who resigned recently, will be before the state board of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool at 10 o'clock Friday morning at Oshkosh.

Directors of the Oueagamie county unit met last night at Black Creek with Harry Jack state milk pool president, Ernest Springstroh, a member of the Outagamie unit and a state director, will attend the Oshkosh meeting Friday.

The possibility of retaining Walter Singer, Appleton, former milk pool president, as state organizer also will be before the board Friday.

Two Flying Boats Rescue Crew of British Steamer

First Instance of Aircraft Rescuing All Survivors From Sea

London.—(AP)—The British government announced today two Royal Air Force flying patrol boats had rescued the crew of 34 of the steamship Kensington Court, which sent out an SOS after having been attacked by a submarine.

A ministry of information announcement said that the rescue, somewhere in the Atlantic ocean, was the first case in which an entire ship's crew had been picked up at sea by flying boats.

The Kensington Court was a 4,863-ton vessel, owned by the Court line. London was her port of registry.

(The Kensington Court left Rosario, Argentina, on Aug. 15. Her destination then was Dakar, French West Africa, but apparently she had been diverted because of the outbreak of war.

(She was built in 1927 in Glasgow and was 396 feet long and had a 53-foot beam.)

The ministry's announcement said the flying boats, responding to an SOS, arrived alongside a lifeboat from the Kensington Court 10 minutes before the steamer sank.

The announcement added: "The pilots saw a tiny boat crowded with men while others were in the sea clinging to the sides."

"While one flying boat kept watch from the air the other came down on the water alongside the overloaded lifeboat. Fourteen of the men, some in a desperate condition, were pulled into the aircraft. When it had taken off with the heavy load, the other aircraft descended and picked up 20 more men."

"The two aircraft made a quick search for the attacking submarine but it was not located. The seamen crew said one of their two lifeboats had capsized and the other was in danger of sinking."

Condition of Youth Is Reported Improved

The condition of George Baeten, 20, West DePere, who was seriously injured when he was struck by a car at the Nittsburg ballroom north of Kaukauna last week, was reported "improved" at St. Vincent's hospital, Green Bay, today.

He had taken off with the car driven by Clayton Van Arsen, route 2, Appleton, and was dragged about 100 feet. Several vertebrae in his back were fractured.

Eugenia Dix Granted Divorce by Judge Ryan

Eugenia Dix, 22, route 4, Appleton, this morning was granted a divorce from Norman Dix, 30, Kaukauna, by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court. She charged cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple married May 16, 1938, at Waukegan and separated in August this year.

Shock Victim Taken To Appleton Hospital

Arnold Heinke, Weyauwega cheesemaker who suffered an electrical shock while working at the Weyauwega Star Cheese factory Sunday morning, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital Wednesday afternoon for treatment. He is suffering from first degree burns and a severe nervous shock. His condition was reported as improved today.

of the arms embargo met to plan their strategy of opposition to revision of the neutrality act.

sympathy with Adolf Hitler's war aims, as some reports had alleged. "I guess you don't need a denial about my person," said the propagandist chief. "My answer to British lying propaganda is very simple: on which you have seen evidence in these past weeks, I think."

Goebbels called the propaganda of the British information ministry "childish and laughable."

"It does not in the least disturb our sovereign feeling of security," he said.

G.O.P. LEADERS CONFER WITH ROOSEVELT ON NEUTRALITY

In high spirits, these four Republicans are shown as they arrived at the White House to participate in President Roosevelt's bi-partisan conference on United States neutrality. Left to right: Rep. Carl E. Mapes, of Michigan, ranking minority member of the House rules committee; Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts; House minority leader; Alf M. Horrors of War Will Start In Earnest When Germany Is Sure Peace Talks Have Failed

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York.—(AP)—Allies and Germans are all set for action on the western front—so well set, in fact, that either would be courting disaster by employing undue haste in initiating a major offensive.

Hence the comparative inactivity so far.

There's no call for rush at this juncture. The crushing of Poland removes the necessity of an immediate allied attack to relieve pressure on the Poles. The Nazis still haven't broken away from Hitler's policy of not fighting the allies unless forced on the grounds that Germany has no quarrel with France and England.

Curiously enough, despite the fact that the spring of 1939 is the olive which Hitler held out from Danzig was tossed back at him by the allies, Berlin still persists with peace propaganda. Yesterday there was another striking gesture of friendship towards France in a military funeral to French Lieutenant Louis Deschanel who was killed in action. And the Berlin Allgemeine Zeitung said:

"Germany has reached her war objective. The west does not interest us. Of course, should someone attack us there we would defend ourselves as effective as possible."

"Why must this war go on?" cried the Boersen Zeitung.

Evidently German hope of peace on their own terms isn't entirely dead. But the moment it becomes certain that the war must continue—look out for fireworks.

Once the gloves are off it will be a nasty war. The horrors of modern air-raids—the world's awful nightmare—are in the offing.

British Premier Chamberlain nailed the imperial standard to the mast yesterday when he laid down England's war aims before his house of commons. He reiterated the determination to pay the allied debt of honor to Poland, but the thing cut a lot deeper than that.

"Our general purpose in this struggle is well known," he said. "It is to redeem Europe from the perpetual and recurring fear of German aggression and enable the peoples of Europe to preserve their independence and their liberties."

That's plain language and it covers more ground than a man would want to plow in a day. But it is a long way from telling the entire story.

It becomes increasingly clear that the British empire has been put on the spot.

Not only is Britain Herr Hitler's chief target, but it is being potted at by other countries as well. France, of course, is sharing England's trials but the prize sought is John Bull's. The boys have ganged on him.

Even before yesterday's statement Mr. Chamberlain had broadened the Polish issue by announcing that England was out to "destroy Hitlerism." The Nazi chieftain accepted that gage in his speech at Danzig Tuesday. Either of these gentlemen, however, might have clarified the position greatly by amplifying something like this:

So far as concerns Europe, the main engagement is between Germany and Britain. Or, to be more accurate, it is between Britain and Hitler, the individual, together with the Hitlerian doctrine which we know as nazism.

Prestige At Stake
It is to determine whether Hitler shall continue to extend his influence until Nazi Germany is the dominant power, or whether England shall retain the politico-economic superiority which has given that nation, among other things, the title of "Policeman of Europe."

One naturally doesn't mean to dissociate France from all this. The French empire and European influence also has been challenged, and she stands with England. But we are talking about the one the gung is gunning for in particular—John Bull.

England's troubles aren't confined to Hitler. Russia's newborn brotherhood (or is it?) with Germany, and the cooperation between these two great powers, have in effect been a heavy blow to Britain, and to France as well. The supplies which Germany expects to get from Russia likely would alter the whole complexion of the conflict.

Also, this Nazi-communist cloud-burst has driven all the smaller nations of eastern Europe and the Balkans scurrying to cover. They are afraid of Germany, or of Russia, or of both. England's efforts to put her finger on her small friends is like trying to catch a flea.

$10,000 Civil Case Is Settled Out of Court

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh.—An out-of-court settlement was reached yesterday in the $10,000 civil suit brought by Mrs. John Gerrits, 111 E. Wisconsin avenue, Appleton, against Wendall Bradley, route 1, Omro, who was scheduled to begin in circuit court before Judge Henry P. Hughes.

Mrs. Gerrits was asking $10,000 for injuries received in an auto accident which occurred last May on Highway 41, south of Oshkosh.

The stipulation filed in the office of the clerk of courts, Edward C. Abel, stated that the defendant is to pay the plaintiff $1,500.

Radio in Warsaw Silenced; Shells Believed Heard had remained on the air day and night. It had gone on even while shells were falling all-around it.

Four times yesterday the warning wail of air raid sirens could be heard above the calm voice of the announcer and four times the drone of diving airplanes came over the air.

The broadcaster said the raids were conducted by squadrons of 30 German planes.

His account of the siege included another appeal to Great Britain to help save the battered city.

Before silence again sealed Warsaw's fate, the radio reported a successful attack against a German force. But it also admitted devastating blows from German cannon and warplanes.

Still defiant, Mayor Stefan Starzynski had appealed to the capital's citizens to persevere until a final victory had been won against the Germans and told the outside world the "morale still is good."

Colonel Vlastislav Lipinski described the battle in which he said Polish forces, particularly cavalry, drove back a German tank attack.

Center of City Hit
The radio said German aircraft made several raids over the center of Warsaw, especially in the neighborhood of Pilsudski square and the city's largest hotels.

Between 5 and 6 o'clock last night, it said, 30 German planes made a terrific concentrated attack while heavy artillery dumped shells into the center of the city, inflicting heavy casualties among women and children.

Seven German warplanes were said to have been shot down.

Mayor Starzynski's instructions, warnings and reports to the populace indicated the hardships Warsaw was undergoing.

He said soldiers were receiving rations and were prohibited from buying clothing or food in stores. Special patrols were watching for soldiers who try to get double rations, he warned, and those caught will be "severely punished."

The mayor declared the populace constantly was fighting fires, repairing damage and clearing away debris. He said the whole city was contributing self-sacrificing service and priests were ever present to give the last sacrament.

4 CENTERS OF RESISTANCE

Berlin.—(AP)—The army high command reported today only four centers of resistance to Nazi forces remained in Poland and Germans expected they would fall without shelling.

The command's belief that the remaining resistance was negligible already had been indicated by the departure for the western front of Colonel General Walter von Brauchitsch, commander of the German army, to assume direction of the struggle against Great Britain and France.

The points still held by Poles, a high command communique said, included:

1. Warsaw, besieged capital of Poland. (Reports from Budapest said the Warsaw radio which had been maintaining contact with the outside world suddenly died during the playing of a Polish military air.)

2. Modlin, fortified center 18 miles northwest of Warsaw.

3. Gora Kalvarja, on the left bank of the Vistula 23 miles south-east of Warsaw.

4. On the Hela peninsula, narrow finger of land poking out into the gulf of Danzig. Its extremity is 19 miles northwest of Danzig.

German officers indicated that no lightning strokes against these centers were planned, but rather, since they are surrounded, that the feeling is time will work for Germany and the Poles will surrender.

Says Surrender Certain
One of the generals in Reichsfuehrer Hitler's entourage, discussing the situation of Warsaw, said on Tuesday:

"Our fuhrer does not think it worth while to risk the life of a single German soldier to take Warsaw. Cut off on all sides it has no alternative save to surrender."

"Why, then, should we shell it and give food—though unjustified—to anti-German propaganda that we are firing on women and children?"

Military men said the same feeling applied to the other remaining islands of resistance.

Some 3,000 Poles were believed to be isolated on the Hela peninsula.

In other quarters Germany's failure to strike a crushing blow at Warsaw so far was attributed to a policy of waiting on congress' action in Washington.

Watching United States
Interest on influencing the United States' decision whether to revise her neutrality legislation brought the propagandists' batteries to the fore while frontline activities slackened.

As a result of the reported German policy toward Poland's capital, Germans believed there would be no violent attack there which might inflame opinion while vital important decisions were being made in Washington.

Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz brought into the open a German complaint, previously whispered in government circles, that Anthony Joseph Drexel Biddle, Jr., United States ambassador to Poland, was "serving British propaganda."

(The United States state department made public Sept. 13 two cablegrams from Biddle in which the ambassador reported witnessing German aerial bombardment of defenseless towns in Poland as well as military objectives.)

national American Legion convention in Chicago.

The drummers in particular have been spending a good deal of time sprucing up their instruments for the Appleton unit's top opportunity—a crack at the national championship. L. V. Benjamin, drillmaster, reported today that a group of the boys worked until late last night at the clubhouse.

The drums are being painted at an Appleton shop today. The bugles are having the dents whacked out of them at an Elkhorn, Wis., instrument factory. All the equipment will be back in town tomorrow and the boys will give it a final inspection tomorrow evening. The corps will leave Sunday morning for Chicago.

Organize Large Vocal Groups at New London High

Mary K. Donohue in Charge of Chorus and Glee Club Activities

New London — The largest vocal groups in the history of New London High school have been organized during the first two weeks of school by Miss Mary K. Donohue, director of vocal music. Vocal work has been placed on the point system this year for the earning of credit letters.

The a capella mixed choir has increased from 40 members of last year to 55 this year and the girls' glee club has expanded from 38 last year to 75 this year. The mixed choir rehearses three times a week after school the girls section on Mondays, the boys on Wednesdays and the combined groups on Fridays. The glee club rehearses Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons.

The point system was introduced this year to limit the awarding of credit letters to outstanding chorists, according to Miss Donohue. A total of 180 points must be earned and a public appearance made solo and in concert. Points will be awarded for various participation and demerits will be deducted for absence, misconduct, tardiness and personal appearance.

Elect Officers

Mary Brown has been elected president of the mixed choir. Dean Jeffers is vice president; Patricia Egan, secretary; and Ethel Knapstein, librarian.

Officers of the glee club are Rosemary McDaniel, president; Arville Saindon, vice president; Hazel Babcock, secretary; Mary Thersens, librarian.

Methodist Board Makes Plans for Fall Activities

Redecoration of Church Will be Celebrated at Public Dinner

New London — With the completion of $1,200 worth of improvements and redecoration in the church building within the next few days, the official board of the Methodist church Tuesday evening set Oct. 18 as the date for a public chicken dinner in celebration of the accomplishment. Expansion and alterations in the church parlors have been completed and redecoration of the auditorium will be done next week.

The board met after a pot-luck supper and elected new officers, made plans for the annual every-member canvass of the congregation, and appointed new ushers for the coming year. The last Wednesday of every month was set as a regular meeting date hereafter.

The Rev. R. R. Holliday, pastor, automatically acts as chairman of the board. Frank Beckman was elected vice chairman; James Cottrill, financial secretary; Mrs. L. C. Lowell, treasurer; and Mrs. Ray Thomas, communion steward. A. W. Grambsch was engaged as church janitor.

Canvass Starts Sunday

The committee named to make the every-member canvass starting next Sunday are Henry Christensen, Floyd Webb, William Sagar, Arthur Graebel, Frank Beckman, E. A. Archibald, James Cottrill, Floyd Longie, Victor Thomas, Phil Court, W. T. Maxted, Arnold Johnson.

Ushers appointed to inaugurate a new ushering system in the church are Henry Christensen, William Sagar, L. C. Lowell, Floyd Webb, F. M. Grisvold, Ben Erickson, James Christensen, Stanley Cottrill and Ralph Holliday.

Waupaca County Democrats to Hold Banquet at New London

New London — The annual banquet and frolic for Waupaca county Democrats will be held at the American Legion clubhouse here on Tuesday evening, Oct. 3, at 7 o'clock, it has been announced by N. R. Demming, county chairman.

The banquet will be served by the American Legion auxiliary, leading Democrats of Wisconsin will be secured as speakers, and singing and vaudeville will entertain at the after-dinner program. Dancing will be held afterwards with music by a leading orchestra.

Mrs. D. B. Egan entertained Monday evening at the first of a series of house parties for the benefit of the American Legion auxiliary. Similar parties will be given this week by other members of the current working group. Mrs. Egan entertained four tables and prizes were won by Mrs. Marie Helrich, Mrs. L. J. Manske and Mrs. R. C. Dauterman.

Twelve tables were in play at the public card party of the Royal Neighbors of America at the Odd Fellow hall Tuesday evening. Prizes in five hundred were won by Mrs. L. K. Thomas, Mrs. S. E. Thersens, and Mrs. Peter Schuh; in schafkopf by Mrs. Oscar Sennett, Mrs. Anthony Joubert and Mrs. Arthur Kopitzke. Men's prizes in schafkopf were won by Forest Poppy, Russell Phillips and Ervin Schimke.

Mrs. Dan Brown entertained the F. F. and F. club at her home Tuesday evening and prizes went to Mrs. Reinhold Kaepnick and Mrs. William Breitenfeldt, the former also taking the traveling prize. Mrs. Otto Forster was a guest of the club. Next week Mrs. Clarence Ebert will be hostess.

A delegate to the district convention at Neenah on Oct. 4 will be named by the Woman's Relief corps at its regular meeting at the Odd Fellow hall Friday afternoon.

Begin Picture Work For School Yearbook

New London — Photographic work for the New London High school annual, the Classmate, will be launched early again this year and first group pictures will be taken Friday. Classes and athletic organizations will be first. Miss Mary Wendlandt is the faculty advisor in charge of organizing the Classmate staff this year and supervising the production of the book.

Mrs. Elmer Merton, a resident of Weyauwega for many years has rented her house to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sellin and went to Oshkosh to make her home with her son, Will Merton.

Map Girls' Athletics At Combined Locks

Combined Locks — All plans for girls' athletics in the Combined Locks State Graded school have been completed. Volleyball is to be the first sport of the program and will be played at 4 o'clock every Tuesday afternoon. All the girls in the sixth seventh and eighth grades are participating in the games during the winter the girls will play basketball.

The first meeting of the seventh and eighth grade domestic science class was held recently. There are nine girls in the domestic science class. The eighth grade girls who will participate are Harriet Koenen, Lois Hartzheim and Alice Van Stralen; seventh grade, Kay Dreger, Veronica Van Linn, Marion De Coey, Betty Lom, Rosemary Feyenberg and Agnes Van Durzen. Plans were discussed for the year. The fifth and sixth grade girls will study domestic science once each month.

Manual arts classes from the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be held Thursdays. There are approximately thirty boys enrolled and each boy has selected a project.

The radio is being made available to all the students in the school. It will be located so there will be no disturbance of other classes, while a program is being received.

Teacher Tells Club About European Trip

Kaukauna—Thomas Nolan, high school history teacher, described his trip to Europe last summer before the Rotary club yesterday noon at Hotel Kaukauna. Nolan traveled through England, France, Belgium, Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

Nolan expressed the opinion that the war was more a clash of economic systems than of political differences, and that this would become more apparent as time went on. A large part of Hitler's strength seemed to lie in the almost 100 per cent support of that country's youth Nolan observed.

Gridders Drill At Coppes' Field

Night Session Is Held in Preparation for Menasha Game

Kaukauna—High school footballers shifted their practice efforts for Friday night's game at Menasha to Coppes' field last night, going through an intensive drill under the lights. Another such session is slated for today, while tomorrow the gridders will taper off with a light signal drill.

Captain Leo Wolfe, out for two days with a bad thumb, returned to the first string lineup yesterday and will be in shape for Friday's game. Willis Ranguette, sophomore back who showed up well against St. Mary's of Menasha, has a sprained shoulder which will hamper him against the Bluejays.

The first eleven last night had Leo Wolfe and Bill Alger at ends, John Wandell and John Vette at tackles, Ray Hurst and Steve Andrejsek at guards, Wolfe at center, and Karl Giordana, George Steffen, Willis Ranguette and Joe Regenfuss in the backfield. In the second team line were Robert Wodjanski and John Kramer, ends, Marvin Janssen and Herman Franz, tackles, William Dryer and H. Stuber, guards, Jack

46 Contributions are Received to Help Send Drum Corps to Chicago

Kaukauna—Forty-six contributions have been received by the SOTAL drum and bugle corps committee in its drive to raise funds to send the corps to the national convention beginning Sunday in Chicago. Success of the campaign was virtually assured Tuesday evening when the common council voted to contribute the cost of transportation.

Contributors to the fund, in addition to those listed last week, are Order of Eastern Star, Knights of Columbus Ladies, Thilmans Pulp and Paper company, Badger Tissue Mills, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, W.C.O.F., Sacred Heart court, Kaukauna Hardware company, Stokes Grocery company, Vaudeville theater.

MR. HEIL'S REORGANIZATION OR "RASTUS WHAR YOU BEEN?"

During the eight months that the Republican state administration has enjoyed office, it has performed a pretty complete job of reshuffling the big administrative and quasi-judicial departments which to all intents and purposes constitute the state government.

Mr. Heil, the guiding genius in the expansive reorganization, maintains that economy and greater efficiency will result. An incidental, but highly important result, is that LaFollette hold-overs will have been returned to private life and that the followers of the new party in power will participate in a harvest which they feel they earned last November.

The taxpayers of the state government, which includes practically all of us, the men and women whose connection with political parties is confined to casting a ballot at election time and whose most conscious connection with government is touchingly brought home once a year when the tax collector calls, are likely to have some comments to make on these periodical efforts to shake up the capitol.

The most potent criticism of the current reorganization plan is that it is not a plan. There is no evidence of planning to be found. Nowhere is there proof of a thorough survey of the administrative organization needs of the state government. A hard and fast pattern of single directorships was settled upon in a Republican legislative caucus, presumably at the suggestion of Mr. Heil, the businessman, and it has been applied to all the departments affected whatever the nature of their functions.

There is no recognition of the fact that there is a vast difference between the operations of the welfare department, which administers penal and charitable laws and disburses welfare funds from the treasury, and the public service commission, which rules with a high power some of the greatest industries within the limits of the state.

Not is there any recognition of the fact that the staggered commission system which was established for the regulation of the utilities of the state several decades ago has served its purpose exceedingly well. Instead there is devised an entirely new and untried scheme of one man control, something which few other states in the country have attempted, and which qualified students of utility regulation regard with skepticism.

There is bound to be comment also on the fact that exceptions have been made, not only in the departments left undisturbed, but in some of those which caught the eye of the Republican reorganizers.

Thus the state farm board consists of seven members who act in an advisory capacity to the director of the department of agriculture. A state welfare board will advise the state welfare director. But there will be no one to advise the public service commissioner or the tax commissioner; whose duties are certainly as important and whose powers are as far-reaching.

Moreover, some state departments have been overlooked completely. If there is a good reason for believing that a single commissioner can manage the public service commission and the tax commission, there must be an equally good reason to believe that a single commissioner can rule the industrial commission, which is essentially a regulatory agency of the type of the public service commission. But the state will continue to pay the salaries of three industrial commissioners, with no explanations from the administration.

Those who have followed the reorganization plan closely will have detected also that at no time did the administration offer any support or sympathy to those students of educational administration who have harped for years on the state's decentralized, incoherent, and generally haphazard system of school management at the state level. A bill to consolidate state school agencies died in the legislature months ago without a single responsible administration leader offering it support.

The same observers have noticed that in a few instances the only result of reorganization was the dismissal of hold-over boards and the replacement with others of Heil's choosing. It was so with the University of Wisconsin board of regents. The new board is slightly smaller in membership, but its organization is identical. The abolition of the old board doubtless satisfied those who regarded with alarm and distrust the evidence of partisan manipulation of the university during recent years, but is the state then to expect that every election will bring a new board of managers for the state's biggest and most expensive school? And must the board of agriculture be tossed out after every state election, so that the new party in power can choose its own men to manage it? It is a harsh and radically new prospect to those men and women to expect services and not politics from the state departments at Madison, and it is obviously contrary to the Wisconsin tradition that the best insurance for continuity of policy and permanency of action is a system of staggered administration.

There is a final observation which can be made on the Heil reorganization. It is simply the time-tried principle that personality is more important than organization in government departments. The responsibility for the success of Heil's reorganization acts rests with him, for he must choose the men to fill the places he has created. If he invites men with training, judgment and integrity to serve with him, if he dispels the widespread belief that the reorganization bills disguised a concerted shaking of the plum tree, the electorate may be satisfied. If he does not, he may find the voters next time taking the attitude of the old negro toward the merry-go-round.

"No, sah, I don't never ride on dem things," said the old woman. "Why, de other day I seen Rastus Johnson git on an' ride as much as a dollar's worth an' git off at the very same place what he got on at, and I sez to him, 'Rastus,' I sez, 'you done spent yo' money, but whar you been?'"

CHINAIFYING AMERICA ON NEUTRALITY

Mistaken but important issues in respect to neutrality are two in number: munition makers and Mr. Roosevelt.

The myth has been so well spread that munition makers create wars that a public feeling of hostility to them is hardly avoidable. We never yet saw any evidence or had any cause to us that munition makers started wars although they certainly have cleaned up on them. The president is the second issue insofar as congress is concerned because our national legislature is fearful that Mr. Roosevelt, either through his rash and impetuous nature or his great sympathy for France and England, will get us into trouble.

These issues will affect charting America's course for the future when they should not.

But the great problem of neutrality cannot be cut up into little squares for consideration. Involved in the problem is the entire attitude of America toward world wars, what it will do in the future when they arise, and how it may conduct its affairs to interfere least with the battlers and yet remain forgetful of the fact that heaven has given it a right to live and to pursue its natural course in the world.

Viewing World War No. 1 day by day as it paraded by in bloody streaks we never concluded that selling goods to the allies had more than a slight effect upon our eventual participation. Selling, on credit, and extending those credits until panic was in the offing was a major cause, splendidly supported however by silly idealistic slogans on the one hand, intense propaganda and an equally intense dislike of Kaiserism on the other.

We have grave doubts that any good will ever ensue to America by crawling into a hole and pulling the cover in after us as soon as the guns begin to boom.

If we were running this country we would immediately raise an army of about two million men and equip and train them. There is nothing of hysteria but very much of the practical life in that preparation.

As one cartoonist put it recently, "People don't just go around looking for a fight with Joe Louis."

Even Herr Hitler has said that he is going to fight this war according to the principles of international law and he appears to have done so to date with the exception of the Athens which may be chalked up to the U-boat commander's error.

Barring munitions will only open up the door to our humble and sacrificial prostration in the dust. It will eventually lead to the exclusion of more and more of our rights.

May we sell trucks to England? Aren't trucks employed to transport men and munitions? May we sell oil to France? Isn't oil the life blood of modern war? May our farmers sell their old nags to either of these governments? Horses are still the mainstay of artillery in wet country and cavalry units are just as indispensable now as ever over a certain terrain.

Shall we stop our young men from renouncing their American citizenship and going to Canada to join up? As they drop bombs on the German countryside what will Herr Hitler say about America? Will not Berliners believe we connived at letting these youngsters into foreign armies? Shall we blush, apologize and pass more laws?

This neutrality question will probably be decided on emotions. And emotions do not even scratch the surface.

To view this Armageddon that has been going on for 40 centuries or more, that began long before there was ever a banker, local or international, that was being fought when men made their own weapons and did not know what munitions were, and ascribe causes for it that have little more to do with it than falling leaves in Wisconsin in October, has never appealed to us as a very enlightened way of treating the subject.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi turns out to be Joan Edwards, the gal who does the vocals for Paul Whiteman's troupe. So, at least, says Joan herself, but it may be just wishful thinking.

She started being Sigma Chi's—and a dozen other college organizations—sweetheart, Joan explains, two years ago when 100 upperclassmen of Duke University combined to send her this letter: "Dear Miss Edwards—We love you. We listen to your singing with a catch in our throats and a shiver in our hearts. Please say you love us."

It was pretty short notice for Joan to commit herself to avowals of love, but she autographed 100 photographs and sent them to the Duke lads. Somehow or other the word got around, and the next thing she knew Joan was having a similar mass romance with 24 Washington and Jefferson undergrads who sent her an inscribed heart locket, saying: "Joan, you are our sweetheart forever."

As a sideline, some of the little bookshops on Sixth Avenue sell autographed photographs of stage and screen performers. Browsing in one of them yesterday, my pensiveness was disturbed by loud conversation between a potential customer and the proprietor. The customer, a 16-year-old jitterbug, wanted a "Bob Crosby"—that is, he wanted to buy a photograph of the bandleader, autographed. The shop owner produced one. "Give me fifty cents," said the proprietor, "and it's yours."

"Fifty cents?" screamed the jitterbug. "Why, down the street I can get a Bob Crosby for a quarter!"

The shopkeeper smiled understandingly. "I know about that," he said. "That isn't a Bob Crosby. That's a rubber-stamped Crosby. 'This,' he held it up proudly, 'is a Bob Crosby original!'"

Which reminds me, for no reason at all, of the story they tell of a certain very prominent dance bandleader who never took the trouble to learn to read or write. This appalling ignorance didn't bother him much, but it did make him a mark for occasional slickers.

The story goes that he once employed a press agent whose job was to get nice things printed about him in the newspapers. Knowing that the bandleader could not read, the press agent—the Rat—would occasionally get brief mentions of his client into print. He then would rush to the bandman's office with the newspaper. "Oh, Boy!" he would say, "See what I got printed about you today! He would then wave the paper in front of the maestro. "Listen!" he would say; then he would sit down and "read" for 20 minutes—read what a great gift the bandman was, what a marvelous musician, philanthropist, composer, husband and father. The maestro naturally was delighted.

He would have been very unhappy if he had known that his press agent wasn't reading at all; that he was just making it up as he went along.

All the paper said was: "Joe Blank's band opens tonight at the Garden rest—Adv."

Acquisition of the Tuttle Press company of Appleton by the Northern Paper Mills of Green Bay, headed by Judson G. Rosebush, was announced the previous afternoon. The gross assets of the two organizations, based on appraisals, was to exceed $14,000,000.

Despite the tendency to tighten restrictions for entrance to Lawrence college, the freshman class of 261 students was only 14 less than the previous year. Twice as many applicants were refused as in 1928.

Theodore Larsen was reelected president of the Equitable Fraternal union of Neenah at the first fall meeting Wednesday evening. Others elected were Fred McCrary, vice president; B. A. Quinn, outer guard; John Williams, inner guard and trustee for three years.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

SUNDAY IN THE WOOD

The solemn hush procession of the pines
Murmurs a hymn of praise
Upon the hemlock altar a light shines.
And elfin music plays.
The squirrels stop their chattering to hear
The melody ascend.
And from the thicket runs the trembling deer
To meet the perfect friend.

Here in the wood, upon the Sabbath day,
The sacred step of God
Falls when the trees bow leafy heads to pray.
The twisted paths, untrod
By restless human feet, are quickened by
That scarcely noticed tread.
The cedar thrills to the unclouded sky.
The birch lifts her shy head.

If we have patience, we may penetrate
Through overhanging boughs,
And see how woodland creatures celebrate
The Sabbath in God's house.
We may not find Him in the city street,
Nor meet Him in the tides.
But in the forest's primeval retreat,
We know that God abides.

When you pay 50 cents for a meal, you pay 30 cents for water. Meat is 75 per cent water, while cucumbers, for one example, are nearly all water.

FATHER COUGHLIN AND NEUTRALITY

Editor Post-Crescent—In his talk for September 17, Father Coughlin for once seems to voice the sentiment of the majority of the people when he appealed for abstaining from entering the European war. But he dismissed the chance for appealing to reason, and instead appealed to emotions. He tossed flowery and high-sounding phrases about with great abandon; dropping his voice to a barely audible whisper one moment, and raising it to an hysterical shout the next. It was a masterful presentation but didn't—and wasn't mean to—clarify the situation any. The coming special session of Congress is bound to have far-reaching effects, regardless of the outcome of the attempt to repeal the present neutrality law. Straight and unimpassioned thinking is needed, but the ear-mongering and misrepresentations which have been coming from Detroit are not conducive to the rational approach which is needed in this case.

Dogmatically he states that the advocates of the cash and carry principle are preparing to destroy democracy, and that the coming session of Congress will "result in peace or war." There are no ifs, ands, or buts. Congress must follow Coughlin or there will be war. For a man who has been proven wrong time and time again, he seems very sure of himself. He may be right, but he failed to offer one shred of proof that retention of the present law, which permits American ships to carry cargoes to belligerents, will prevent our getting into the war. In so doing, he once again shows his contempt for the intelligence of his audience. And why not? He knows his audience. People gullible enough to swallow his past misrepresentations are not likely to question such emotional appeals as "Onward, Christian Soldiers," "Strike a blow for God and Country," "Wall Street against Main Street," "Let Paul Reverse ride again," etc. etc. These are heart-tugging phrases, indeed, but they mean nothing, and only serve to bedevil the issue. In order to settle all doubts as to who has the right answer, he closed his talk with "God wills it!" Governor Dickinson had better look to his laurels, for an interloper seems to be muscling in on his "pipe-line to God."

Coughlin's present rantings would be better received if at any time in the past he had shown himself to be interested in democracy. But now he is very solicitous over the fate of democracy and is worried over the loss of our "code of liberty," and is tuning up for the "swan-song of liberty." This is an amusing admission, especially when coming from a man who in all his works has never expressed himself on the subject of civil liberties. Drivel such as this comes from America's foremost exponent of racial and religious strife; the man who has used Nazi material extensively in his broadcasts; the man (to prove his love for democracy) who has said, "When the ballot is useless, I shall have the courage to advocate bullets instead of ballots."

It is any wonder that he is the darling of reaction and that the Kuhns, the Pelleys, the Winrods, the Mosleys, and other fascists cheer wildly when his name is mentioned? They are quick to recognize one of their own kind. Father Coughlin may have the right answer, but his past record is not such that we shouldn't be doubly wary of any suggestions that he may offer. It is to be hoped that the question will be settled on the basis of rationalism rather than one of emotionalism. In far too many cases in the past the latter has been the case and we have lived to regret that choice. Lincoln trusted the people to do the right thing. Why doesn't Coughlin? Possibly he is fearful that they will.

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

If there's no way to keep the European war from getting going in earnest, America could at least send a note over there asking those fellows to hold off until after the World series. It takes a lot to spoil a World series, but a war could put a crimp in it, especially if the French and English ever get to hitting.

And those allies are apt to start hitting, although they seem to prefer fungo practice for some reason or other. A lot of people are beginning to get critical and hint that the allies ain't in earnest this season, but I dunno. Maybe, as a friendly gesture to America, they are going to let the series get over before they do anything.

Neville Chamberlain took the stuffing out of Hitler's Danzig speech, but this war ain't going to be won by speeches, and they won't do the peace chances any good, either.

What the British need first of all in this war is a good stage manager and radio director.

I'd like an explanation of the flight of Marshal Smigly-Rydz from his armies and out of Poland. It's just possible the Poles sent him back to try to locate the allied support and that he was halfway across the continent before he knew it.

THE REAL TEST WILL COME WHEN HE TRIES TO STAND ON HIS HEAD

Under the Capitol Dome

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—It has previously been reported that there is appearing an upsurge of confidence in the ranks of Progressive party workers about the chance of returning to the capitol next year. Although the realistic thinkers in the organization realize that they have no outstanding candidate relatively sure of winning the nomination in the big field which is anticipated for the primary, there is a unanimous belief among the machine men that the outlook is rosy against the Heil administration in 1940.

A perennial problem in the state government after almost every election, however, whatever its landslide proportions, is controlling the legislature. Phil LaFollette got in the heaviest vote of his career in 1936, but he had to beg and borrow from the opposition side of the senate to get his program on the statute books.

Julius Heil got a phenomenal electoral endorsement last fall, but again the administration found itself when the legislature convened on January 15 short of a majority in the upper house.

SOME CALCULATIONS
Progressives have been doing some figuring, and have concluded that at the best they can come only within a two votes of a majority in the senate if they carry the state next year. So a plan of action is being passed around which is, at the least, bold and original.

The party should, the author of the idea reasons, capture not only those seats in the normally Progressive districts which open up next year; it ought to sponsor recall petitions against several of the Republican governors who were elected in Progressive counties last fall and who will hold their jobs through the 1940 election and until 1942.

The recall elections, it is said, would be held on the same day as the general election. In that way and in that way only, it is reasoned, can the Progressives be sure of a chance to win complete control of the capitol if it is a Progressive year.

Already nominated for extinction by the Progressive optimists discussing the plan are Senators Jesse Miller of Muskego, who succeeds E. M. Rowlands, the LaFollette leader in the senate in 1937, Jesse Peters of Hartford, who beat a Democrat but ran behind his ticket in Washington, and Waukesha counties, and Senator Collier of Neenah, who, somewhat to his own surprise, beat the supposedly unbeatable Earl Leverich in the central Wisconsin district in defeating Monroe, Adams, and Marquette counties.

A late rumor from Republican hotel circles tells of discussions of a plan to encourage Julius Heil to run for the United States senate next year, in order to open up a way for Assembly Leader R. W. Peterson to stand for the governorship.

Heil's private secretary, huestorian William C. Maas, is ready to tangle with veteran Daniel Webster Hoan for the majority of Milwaukee in spring, Maas' associates report.

Close friends of Senator LaFollette intimate their belief that the European war and American neutrality debate are boons for their man's reelection prospects.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

DON'T WASH AWAY YOUR TAN

It is safe now, I hope, I hope, I hope, to cite recent scientific observations which tend to confirm an old vagary of mine, which, if perchance you have survived many years of it, you may recall I advocated recklessly in days of old when we were bold. Now we'll just mention it hastily and get on to the discussion of nudity, sunbathing, the action of ultraviolet light on the body, tanning, sunburn, and health. The concept to which I refer is that—come closer so I can whisper—too frequent bathing is rather injurious to health. Now may I add that I don't mind the cracks any superior persons may please to make about this in fact I enjoy lampooning, if it only has an original touch and of course the original's signature to set it off from the general run. Please remember, however, that I am concerned only with hygiene and health—not with esthetics. Esthetically you may bathe as frequently and as extensively as you like—it is no sebum off my skin. From the viewpoint of personal health bathing is often overdone and the victim suffers pruritus (itching without apparent cause) or other skin irritation or in some instances increased sensitivity to atmospheric changes. Finally, from the viewpoint of public health, or sanitation, aside from keeping free from vermin such as pediculi (lice) and fungi (ringworm) I (miles) (the itch), with which the wet wash has comparatively little to do, the popularity of bathing bears no particular relations to the morbidity rate in the community.

The saying "cleanness is next to Godliness" ascribed to John Wesley, who ascribed it to some one else, probably applied to mortal purity, not to personal cleanliness. There was practically no personal cleanliness as we understand it today, in Wesley's time (early eighteenth century). Today it seems that obvious cleanliness is often next to Godliness.

In any case the less clothing one wears the less washing one needs. Air (oxygen) and sunlight are more efficient in keeping the body clean than are soap and water.

Some biological chemists are of opinion that too vigorous wet washing after a sunbath removes some of the vitamin D generated by the action of ultraviolet light on sterols (fatlike substances) in the skin. They believe the sterols are contained mainly in the sebaceous glands, and that this is removed by water alone and especially by soap and water washing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Society Game
Please send me full information on healing bed sores. The patient has high blood pressure? (Mrs. C. E. F.)

Answer—That is a problem which should be left entirely to the attending physician.

Deniors Please Do Not Snort
Anxious to have a peg tooth implanted, if it can be done, I inquired of several dentists here. They all snort with derision and assure me that you are misleading? (S. M. K.)

Answer—I happen to know of a blyman is already sounding out his chances for the speakership next session, on the presumption that the present ring of leaders will be cut for bigger stakes in the next campaign. A disgusted senator, discussing the revenue squabbles over the last many months, observed: "The trouble with our boys is that they are long on gall and short on guts." He referred to the willingness to vote appropriations, the refusal to vote for revenue raising measures.

Change of Water
Planning a trip from Kentucky to New York. Afraid of the change of water. Friend advises putting a little lemon juice in the water, but I'd rather have your opinion. (Miss M.M.)

Answer—Traveling by automobile or bus, safest plan is to carry known pure water in vacuum bottle. If you must drink water of unknown purity, put a drop or two of ordinary brown tincture of iodine in a quart of the water, let stand for twenty minutes before you drink. Lemon juice is harmless if you like it in water, but it has no germicidal or antiseptic value.

Peace Program Is Goal of Congress, Lawrence Thinks

Political Future Would be Enhanced by Neutrality, He Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Although politics is supposedly "adjourned," members of congress who have returned for the special session are talking more about politics than they are about war.

The biggest single question most often heard in conversation around Capitol Hill is whether repeal of the embargo on arms and the whole war emergency will help President Roosevelt get the scars of the last five years of New Deal battling, whether they be Republicans or conservative Democrats, almost invariably appraise the present situation in terms of the possible continuation of Mr. Roosevelt in power.

On the face of it, if the trend of events in the special session tends to add to the president's strength in a political sense, his opposition is reluctant to participate in any moves contributing toward that end. The Republican members are divided because many of them feel that, irrespective of whether the proposed repeal of the embargo hurts or helps Mr. Roosevelt, the nation's interests demand a return to international law, while other Republicans feel that public sentiment throughout the country can better be mobilized on the basis of retaining the present embargo.

With some members, it isn't a matter of like or dislike of the present administration at all, but what will the political effect be of a repeal or retention of the embargo. The propaganda from both sides is beginning to increase in intensity and the mail and telegrams are accumulating. It looks as if the congress is going to be subjected to pressure unlike any in recent years.

New Dealers Silent
Looked at from the standpoint of new dealers, there is no concealing the fact that some of them, while saying nothing publicly and maintaining a discreet silence, feel nevertheless that in a war emergency, the chances of drafting the president for a third term nomination are better than if the European war had not broken out. The president himself has been anxious to avoid any impression of seeking to benefit politically. He asked Messrs. Landon and Knox, Republican standard-bearers in the last election, to join his conference so as to demonstrate that he had no political motive.

But there are many Republicans who are saying that, the president can remove all possible suspicion as to his political motives by announcing now that he will not accept a third term nomination. This, Mr. Roosevelt may feel, is not the time to make such a statement. Until the war broke out, it was generally believed that Mr. Roosevelt would remain silent till early in 1940, and there is no reason to suppose he has changed his mind.

Because of the widespread coating of politics that has been given to the war developments as they affect the president's political future, there is a recurrence of the talk heard several months ago among Republicans that Mr. Roosevelt was deliberately trying to drag America into war so he could win a third term.

Politics In 1914
Among those who watched the trend of politics in the years 1914 to 1920, it is argued that those who accuse Mr. Roosevelt of wanting American entry into a war so as to get a third term do not realize that a national presidential campaign was won in 1916—in the middle of the neutrality period—by a slogan, "he kept us out of war." Also, when Mr. Wilson asked for a Democratic congress in 1918 while America was at war, and two years later asked for support for the Democratic presidential candidates, he was defeated both times by a vote which was in no small part due to resentments over American participation in the war.

If it be asserted that Mr. Roosevelt might benefit politically out of the emergency, there is more chance of seeing such an assertion demonstrated if America keeps out of war than if America goes in. This theory will be disputed, of course, but it represents the true view of those closest to the administration. They are hoping for a prolonged period of peace and are praying that no circumstance will arise to force America into war. They feel their political future would be enhanced by a peace rather than a war program. And, once the neutrality law is revised, it will be apparent that this is the direction in which the administration will move.

Ask ICC Approve New Freight Rate

Would Affect Coal Shipped to Lake Superior, Michigan Areas

Washington—The consumer's counsel of the department of the interior asked the Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday to uphold a proposal by five mid-western railroad companies to establish freight rates on coal shipped from Illinois, Indiana and western Kentucky to Chicago for transshipment by lake vessels.

The rates were to have become effective last Feb. 4 but were suspended by the ICC when eastern carriers and coal producers protested. The lake cargo market has been served by producers in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, eastern Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee, which in 1938 shipped more than 18,000,000 tons of bituminous coal into the consuming areas along Lake Superior and Lake Michigan. Mid-western producers and carriers have moved to participate in the lake cargo business in these markets.

In a brief filed with the commission, the counsel said it believed "the advantages of the cheap lake transportation should be accorded to coals produced in Illinois, Indiana and western Kentucky," thereby giving consumers in the territory served by the lake cargo business "the opportunity to use these coals as well as the coals now offered them from eastern producing fields."

Defender Is Trapped by Own Partner

BY ELY CULBERTSON

From a defender's point of view it is highly annoying to be thrown on lead and forced to make a return that benefits the declarer. Usually, however, said defender can console himself with the thought that there was no escaping the trap sprung on him. When, however, the trapping is done by his own partner, even that consolation is lacking.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 heart	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

South, it will be observed, first mentioned his four card diamond suit so that he would have an easy rebid (two clubs) to any response his partner might make. When, on the second round, North raised the clubs South was considerably embarrassed for another bid. Of course he thought about passing, but with his solid club suit, two potential diamond tricks, and two free bids from partner, felt that there must be a play for game somewhere. Since five-odd in a minor suit seemed a bit high to reach, he preferred to chance a heart stopper in North's hand and play the contract in no trump.

West opened the heart king. Declarer did not hold off; he saw that there might be a good use for the low heart at a later stage. The ace winning, five rounds of clubs were run. West discarded the eight and deuce of diamonds, this clearly signifying that he had the diamond king, and then discarded one spade and one heart. East discarded one high spade to tell his partner that he need not worry about that suit and then let go a low diamond. Now declarer led a spade to dummy's ace, after which he returned dummy's remaining heart. At this point East made a good play—he hopped up with the heart nine. He then cashed the king and queen of spades, while West discarded two hearts. But now East completely destroyed the value of his previous play of the heart nine by exciting with a heart. West found himself on lead and had to return a diamond from the K-10 up to declarer's major.

West reproached East bitterly for putting him in this end-play, caustically pointing out that he had called for a diamond return with his 8-2 and that East should have been able to tell easily that a heart return would not defeat the contract. East, on the other hand, wanted to know why, when he was running his king and queen of spades, West had not discarded, his diamonds and held all his hearts. To this West replied that he had not been sure that East had the third heart; that declarer might have held that card, in which case East would have to lead a diamond.

Not only was West's reasoning correct, but even if he had been wrong—even if his heart discards on the king and queen of spades had led a diamond because it should have been perfectly obvious to him that West now was reduced to one heart and two diamonds. Obviously, he would not have kept the ace and a low diamond—he must have something in diamonds that required a lead through declarer. Thus, although East may well have felt that his partner was making a mistake in discarding, he should have made the best of the situation and cooperated on the defense which West obviously had selected. The diamond return, of course, would have defeated the contract.

My Neighbor Says—

Before measuring molasses for recipes dip the cup or spoon in scalding water and the molasses will turn out more quickly.

To add a nutty flavor to oatmeal cookies sprinkle the oatmeal in a thick layer in a shallow pan and heat it for about five minutes before mixing. But be careful not to burn it.

Shout stockings can cause almost as much trouble as short shoes. Buy them half an inch longer than the foot to allow for some shrinking and plenty of toe room.

Beauty and You

—by PATRICIA LINDSAY—

BRENDA JOYCE'S simple hair-do brings out the beauty of her face. It is a good style which the high-school girl may copy.

"I am a high-school girl of fourteen," a letter to me reads, "and I would like to know how to wear my hair attractively. I do not like all over the head permanents."

Frankly speaking, a girl of fourteen should never have an all over the head permanent! If her hair is quite unruly, or if it is terribly straight with not the least natural curl or wave, she may have a little curl (a very soft one) put into the ends of her hair and into her short front curls.

If you have a curl put into your hair by intense heat and curling lotions, the hair curled will never have the sheen, or natural elasticity it had before it was permanented. It will grow out and may be cut off, and new virgin hair will grow in which will not have been harmed by the former wave, but the length of hair actually curled will never be as beautiful as the virgin hair!

Now I think permanent waving brings more beauty to many a woman—but mind you, I say WOMAN and not girl. In my judgment no girl should have to resort to a permanent wave until her hair beauty begins to fade!

Simple Coiffures

Hair well cared for usually has some natural curl or wave. It is up to you to brush your hair, keep it clean and discover where the little curl falls. Then encourage that curl. Today the simple coiffures for the young are very much favored. You may have bangs or top curls if you wish, or you may just part it on the side or in the center. But the line will be up, away from the face on the sides and front, and down softly in back. Not dragging on your shoulders. The day of the deb-bob is over. Wear your hair a comfortable attractive length in back, and if it is long enough (and if you like it) twist it up and pin it to your head. Snoods of all styles favor the "done up" hair, so you will be in fashion.

If you must "do something" to your hair to make it attractive, spend your money on a very good permanent wave and have only the necessary ends curled. Insist upon a soft curl even though it may not last you six or eight months.

A barret (matching your hair color) or combs, will be sufficient to keep your hair in place, or a perky little ribbon bow such as has been worn the past year or two. At night either an artificial flower or a real flower pinned at a becoming angle is sufficient head dress. Experiment a little by combing it this way and that until you find a becoming style.

Up to you to simple and keep your hair BEAUTIFULLY GROOMED!

Children in Apartments are Sometimes Cause of Trouble

BY ANGELO PATRI

Apartment dwellers have their own problems. There are many children in these houses and many kinds of mothers. The complications that arise are numerous and puzzling. How is one to defend his children against aggression and not get into a controversy with the aggressor's mother? There is always an aggressive child, and an aggressively proud mother in the background egging him on if not by words at least by implication. One such little girl has annoyed every mother in a big apartment house and they are helpless in her power. She is six years old, and the only person in the world she heeds is her mother, who usually lets her go her way until she annoys her too much. Then she uses a strap with vigor and gets immediate results.

This youngster likes to steal up to the carriage where a baby is sleeping and fiddle it until he awakes. No amount of pleading touches her. "You darsen't touch me," says she to the victimized mother. Nobody does touch her, save her own mother, and it doesn't seem to bother her when her child bothers other people. Now what are these others to do?

It seems to me that they might select three of their number to list the complaints and present them to the lady. She will not like it, but then nobody likes what her child does, and things cannot be much worse. If there is no improvement in the situation the fathers can see the child's father and lay the situation before him. After that, there is no renting agent. If he is told that he faces a set of vacancies next October unless this annoyance ceases, he will act.

But I find that in such cases the mothers who are victimized by the little bully will suffer anything rather than get into an argument with the mother in question. "We don't want to get into trouble with the neighbors. You know how it is. What can we do to keep the peace?"

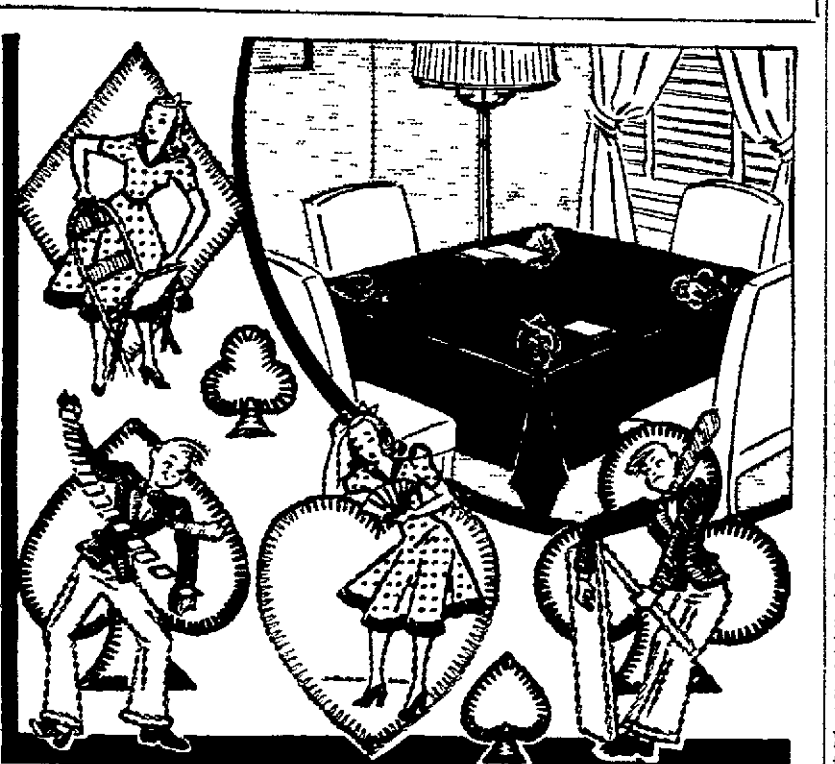

It takes the two sides to keep peace. As a small boy said to his mother when she told him to keep peace with his playmates: "I do, but they don't put in any Co. They do all the 'opping and it's always on me." There is an occasional person who will not cooperate and do his share in keeping the peace, and we must have peace even if we have to fight for it.

If for the mothers who are offended day in, day out, by another mother's behavior, would inform her that they would no longer put up with it and that they would not permit her children to annoy theirs, wouldn't it help? For people can stand up against a united host such as a band mothers in an apartment house can form.

Why not organize to care for the children on an established schedule? Appoint leaders, tenders, play supervisors, advisors, and the like. Hold a monthly meeting where problems that concern the children and their mothers are discussed. Establish a kindergarten in the house, and a day nursery. These things are possible with little outlay of money, but at the expense of a great outlay of brain power. There's more ways of killing a cat than choking it with butter, you know.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Warns Girls Not to Put Too Much Trust in Boy Friends

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix—We want your opinion on several matters. (1) Do you think a lot of petting is permissible if you are certain that you are going to marry the boy? (2) Do you think a boy will marry a girl who has been his mistress even if he was very much in love with her? (3) Should a girl lead a boy and make him believe that she loves him because he happens to be the best she can do at the moment, and when she has no intention of ever marrying him? BESSIE AND JOYCE.

DOROTHY DIX

If you are a seeress who can look into the future and foretell what any man is going to do even two days in the future, you are wasting your talents on mere trivial love affairs. You should set up as a prophetess, in which line you could achieve both fame and fortune. The time is ripe, for instance, for a political oracle. The whole world would like some advance information about whether there is to be war and what the dictators are up to next. Millions of us pine to know whether the stock market is going up or down and whether we will go broke or make a fortune if we put our money in Wild Cat common.

(1) No girl can be certain that she is going to marry some particular boy until after he has signed on the dotted line and put a wedding ring on her finger. He may swear his devotion until he is blue in the face and then go off and marry some other girl. He may go with her for years and years and she may be as sure of him as she is of her faithful old dog Tray and then he can suddenly lose his taste for her and drop her.

And that is why it is never safe for a girl to put too much trust in the boy friend and to go in for heavy petting. He may be true, or he may not. You never can tell. Many a girl who has regarded herself as just as good as married to a man has found herself deserted and neglected, with a little nameless child to support. There is an old adage that says that it is wise to treat even your friends as if some day they might be our enemies. This goes double for girls in dealing with men.

(2) Of course men do martyr their mistresses sometimes, but not very frequently. Because, for one thing, no matter how loose a man's morals may be he wants his wife's love above reproach, and for another thing, he never trusts her because he knows she hasn't any rock bottom principles that would make her temptation proof, and he thinks that if she yielded to him she would to another man. For another thing, it cramps a man's career for him to marry a woman who can't play the game. He won't receive. And for another thing, men grow tired of their mistresses as they do of their wives and when they marry they are likely to pick out a stranger.

(3) Certainly it is most dishonorable and cruel for a girl to lead a boy on and make him believe that she loves him when she is only playing him for a good thing. Honesty is the best policy in love affairs as well as business. Girls who do not live decent lives and regular lives and who do not respect men and make men respect them seldom make good marriages, or find any happiness in marriage.

Husbands Need Judicious Praise

Dear Miss Dix—Don't you think that other people value you as much as you value yourself? My husband is a hard-working man who has been with a firm for five years. He was taken on as an extra and all the work no one else wanted to do. He has got no hard labor he has got nothing. Other have been employed since, but he still stands as an extra and now they want to lay him off regardless of seniority. Wouldn't he have been better off if he had demanded the same treatment as the other employees? SENSIBLE.

Undoubtedly to some extent we write our own price tags. We can only do as much as we think we can do, and a certain amount of self-confidence is necessary to succeed in any line.

But the trouble is we must be able to gauge what we are really worth and not mark ourselves up to some fancy figure that is beyond our real value. No people do themselves such an ill service as those who go about blowing their own horns and telling about how great and wonderful they are when everybody can see for themselves that they are second or third raters, or who refuse to do the humble work they are capable of doing because they think they should be running banks or commanding armies, or that their rightful places are on the supreme court benches.

Office Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: Sixteen office associates are to be invited to my wedding. Must I invite their wives (and husbands)? Several of the wives, however, are personal friends, but all the others are strangers. Could it cause hurt feelings to include these several wives I know and not the others?

Answer: If the hour for the wedding is purposely set for half after twelve on a Saturday, or a late afternoon hour immediately after closing time, so that your associates are to the wedding—directly to the office for the wedding—as a delegation from the company as it were—this would be quite all right. But it would not do at all to expect any of your office friends to accept an invitation sent to him (or her) alone, and to start out from home to go to a social function to which his wife (or her husband) is not invited.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Behavior in Public." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Cover a can of paint that has been partly used with water stirring paint thoroughly before adding. This will keep paint fresh until it is to be used again.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Dramatic critics attend previews and first night performances for the main purpose of writing a critical review. But the public's chief concern is enjoyment, usually involving suspense. Sometimes a reviewer forgets the public's viewpoint, as seems true in today's case.

CASE O-152: Phillip M., aged 19, is a student at the university. "I have a grudge against the newspaper," he announced in class one day when we were discussing the educational importance of the newspaper as regards the modern Adult Education movement. "It may be a minor point, but it certainly irritates me a great deal. Our paper, for example, has a woman who reviews current movies and stage plays. "That is all right, except for the face that this dumb reporter reveals the plot of the movie which she is discussing. "Dr. Crane, wouldn't you think that any adult would have enough sense to let the readers remain in suspense until they have seen the play for themselves. "These smart aleck reviewers who get to see a preview or first night performance on a free pass and then show off by prevailing the outcome of the plot, are simply joy killers. "If I were an editor, I wouldn't permit a book review or movie write-up to kill the suspense and enjoyment of the average reader in this manner. Without suspense, half the value of a book or story is gone. Don't you think so, Dr. Crane?"

DIAGNOSIS: You readers will pretty well agree with Phillip, I am sure. It is fortunate, moreover, that the average reviewer is not as shortsighted as this girl. Because movie and theater titles are often so insane and unreveal-

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Blizard

Chapter 27
UNSUCCESSFUL QUEST

Cecily tried to laugh. "Do you know where else a man could sell that many raspberries?" "Let me see," well, how about the inn?" said Laura. "No, it couldn't have been the inn. I saw Johnny Elder driving in with his baskets full myself yesterday morning. Johnny always supplies the inn with things like that."

"Cecily, you're not trying to make out that the berry man could have gone in there and stolen Lady Rathbone's heirloom, are you? How would he have known it was there?" "Of course I'm not!" Cecily said savagely. "But you must admit that things would look pretty bad for him, if the pun doesn't turn up and there's no one else to fasten suspicion on."

Laura said weakly that it probably would. "Only I don't see why you should worry about it. Cecily, your whole party was cleared when Mrs. Brewster said she'd take personal responsibility for her actions."

"I'm not worried," Cecily picked up some booklets. They slipped out of her hands. She bent to pick them up, decided it was not possible for her to dissemble any longer.

"Laura, Locke was the man who sold those berries to Mrs. Brewster's Adieu."

"Locke? Well, then—" Laura deprecated the idea that Cecily was obviously expressing.

"Don't you see?"

"No, I don't Cecily. Suppose you explain."

"That's just it—there isn't anything to explain! I was only thinking that Locke... Locke is a stranger here, and in case... just in case... he ought to have a chance to clear himself!"

"You don't think that he'd do that, do you?"

"Laura! At all, you know I don't! He... he couldn't! Besides, like Mrs. Brewster, I don't believe anything was stolen. It's just a lot of ado over nothing."

"Mrs. Brewster does believe the pin was stolen," Laura said quietly. "And I'm going to betray a confidence to you, Cecily. She's sending for a detective."

VIVACIOUS STYLE

BY ANNE ADAMS

Win the "best dressed" vote on campus or in town by wearing this captivating young dress. Anne Adams' Pattern 4260 will carry you to football games, to classes, to tea dances, to work, all with candid style. You can make it of one fabric, say a soft, bright wool, or use the top and skirt in spirited contrast. Those easy darts at the shoulders are very dashing, especially if you end them with sporty, pointed pockets. Isn't the rounded "little-girl" collar becoming? And see the back buttoning down to the very waist—so new and jaunty! There's a swish, bias-cut skirt and either long or short sleeves look well.

Pattern 4260 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 44 yards 39 inch fabric.

THE HOME GARDENER

by EDWIN H. PERKINS

Lawns made up from a variety of grasses are seldom attacked by fungus diseases, while those lawns built from especially good grades of bent grass are attacked by patches of brownness. "Brown patch," the name applied to the disease, is one of fungus origin and will be found growing on many highly developed species of the vegetable kingdom. Two distinct forms of brown patch are known. "Large brown patch" affects areas a foot or more in diameter, and "small brown patch" affects areas of limited size only. In large brown patch not all the plants of grass are affected so that a scattering of green remains in the area, while in small brown patch the entire infected area is devoid of grass. Numbers of these small patches appearing over an entire lawn give it a moth-eaten appearance.

The first indication of brown patch is a fine cobweblike ring, visible early in the morning before the dew disappears. After it is dried the area gets smoky and then the grass desists. Large brown patch is likely to appear only in periods of humid weather while small brown patch appears any time during the growing season with no apparent cause.

Either of the diseases responds to treatment with a fungicide. Dilute baths of corrosive sublimate will clear up the infections any time during the year. Water well after applying the fungicide.

there, I banged on the door for a few minutes, found it locked and went back to the road. I waited for the meat man to pick me up—he said he'd give me a lift back—and when he came along he said, "No, nobody home back there. I guess. Young feller took the train to Bangor this noon."

"Thanks." That was all that Cecily said.

In a little while she said, "If you're going to stick around, I think

CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

Americans Have a Right to Think of Saving Themselves

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Those who think, as I do, that no issue has as yet arisen to warrant us sending several million American youths to Europe again are being taunted with the question: "Are we going to think only of our skins and our own pockets?" Says another: "This is not a backroom brawl. This is Armageddon."

I think it is very much to the point to be thinking of our skins—at least to be thinking of those American families whose sons would have to risk their skins. Certainly it is not for us arm chair kibitzers, safe behind our trusty typewriters, to be lecturing our friends into sending sons to fight in Europe.

Neither does it come with good grace from highly placed New Dealers, who have been so solicitous about the skins of the unemployed and the economic underprivileged, to be so horrified now by the thought of anyone wishing to save his own skin.

I hope sincerely that this time the American people will think about their own skins—about the great skin that is America, providentially blessed by a degree of natural isolation from this crazy carnage in Europe, the America which shelters us within a potential paradise rich enough in natural resources to enable those so fortunate as to be Americans to live in the peace and comfort to which human beings are entitled. And to be ready to protect these treasures. Why not be thoroughly selfish about America? Is there anything to be cherished more?

But they tell us this war in Europe is not a backroom brawl. This is Armageddon. Yes. That's what they said before.

You can find it now in Walter Millis', "The Road to War." How Walter Hines Page, our ambassador to Great Britain in the World War, wrote to Woodrow Wilson about the first World War.

"It's a death grapple," he said. "All preceding wars were not in the same class of events. It means extermination, not of the people of either nation, but the utter extermination of the system of either one or the other—English free institutions or German military autocracy."

New They're Insisting This War is Different

And Elihu Root in a rousing speech: "There is no nation on earth, not England, nor France, nor Belgium nor Italy nor Russia with a stake greater in the success of the allies in this (1917) war against German militarism than the U. S."

If we enter this war, we shall be fighting over again the battle of American democracy, along with the democracy of England, the democracy of France, the democracy of Italy, and now, God be praised, the great democracy of Russia; fighting for the principle of free self-government against the principle of old-time autocracy and military power.

Still they insist now that this present war is different. It isn't an ordinary war. It's a war of ideologies.

Well, six weeks ago Hitler was fighting to crush Bolshevism. Now Hitler and bolshevism are allies. For years the ideological war raged. But the minute it was Hitler's advantage to make a deal with bolshevism, he made it. And what of bolshevism's war against fascism? Stalin made a deal with Hitler because he gets something out of it. They both carve up Poland and ideologies be damned.

All wars are fought under crusading banners which are supposed to take the curse off the loot that the powers are after.

If there is one thing that is completely cynical it is war, and if we

Learns Arm Broken Several Weeks After Being Hurt in Fall

Leeman—Marion Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Poole, a pupil at Sunset school, thought her arm only slightly injured in a fall a couple of weeks ago. When she was taken to a physician for examination it was determined that the bone had been broken above the wrist. Since it had partly healed, it was found necessary to re-break the bone and set it correctly. It will be in a cast for several weeks.

George Olson, who spent the last few months here, returned the first of the week to Marquette, Mich., where he is employed. Jimmie Johnson, who has been ill here at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson, accompanied him home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson in Marquette.

Pupils at the Leeman school met Friday afternoon to organize a literary society. The following officers were elected: President, Louise Schinke; secretary, Bennie Thompson; treasurer, Calvin Falk. Plans were made to hold the first meeting of the organization Friday, Sept. 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson, Jr., entertained a group of friends and neighbors at a corn husking bee Saturday evening. Games were played and refreshments served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, Misses Dorothy and Esther Olson, Miss Elsie Svetnicka and Ward Bruger, Thomas Wilkinson, Sr., Miss Nora and Katherine Wilkinson, Forest Carpenter, George and Arthur Olson, John and Francis Wilkinson, Miss Joyce Carter, John Tickler, Jesse and Glenn Carter.

Mrs. Agnes Southard and son Joslyn were guests at a birthday dinner party given Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stedie in New London in honor of the birthday anniversary of their grandson, Ralph Frye.

Miss Margaret Thompson entertained the L.D.R. society of the Navarino Lutheran church at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thompson Saturday afternoon. A program was given by the members. Those present were Mrs. Bernard Nelson, Mrs. Erling Blom and daughter Joan, Miss Jeanette Erickson, the Misses Leona Christanson and Darlene Olson of Galesburg, the Misses Grace Pies, Olga Shuman, Marilyn Nelson, Aletta Roder and Mable Christanson, Mrs. Theodore Christanson and daughter Elaine, Mrs. Carl Johnson and daughters Irene and Sylvia, and son Harvey, of Navarino, and the Misses Esther and Gladys Thompson of Leeman. The next meeting of the society will be held in two weeks at the home of Miss Elaine Christanson in Navarino.

About forty members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Church of Christ attended a housewarming at the home of the pastor, the Rev. and Mrs. P. W. Martell in Green Bay Friday evening.

14 Initiated Into Club at Marion

Organization Has Its First Meeting of Autumn Season

Marion—The Marion Federated Woman's club held its first fall meeting Monday evening, at the city hall. Mrs. L. K. Forrest, president of the club, was in charge of the business meeting. A report of the recent flower show was given by Mrs. Forrest Schaefer. An invitation was received from the Iola club to attend a district meeting Oct. 4. The Marion club also was asked to furnish a number for the program and Mrs. Karl Miller and Mrs. Forrest Schaefer were selected to sing a duet.

The meeting was then turned over to the reception committee which included Mesdames J. H. Driessen, Lionel Fox, Mike Foley, Joe Miller and L. K. Forrest. Fourteen new members were initiated into the club with the candle-light ceremony read by Mrs. Karl Miller. Those joining the club were Mesdames R. H. Slater, Elmer Enz, Art Henschel, Stuart Horne, Dan Wulff, H. G. Meyer, H. J. Knutson, Gordon Gollnow, G. Lambert, and the Misses Caroline Page, Dorothy Elmer, Adele Wulff and Guthrie.

During the program Mrs. Forrest Schaefer and Mrs. Karl Miller sang the new federation song and Mrs. Peter Moore sang two selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. Walter Maes at the piano. Mrs. E. K. Forrest put on a contest of slogans

Rev. A. A. Bennett, 69, Dies in California

Weyauwega—Word was received here of the death of the Rev. A. A. Bennett, 69, who died in Long Beach, Calif. on Sept. 15. A. A. Bennett and his father William Bennett were both former pastors of the Methodist Episcopal church. He attended Lawrence college at Appleton and studied for the Ministry at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill. He served for years as secretary of the Wisconsin Methodist conference and held pastorates at Oshkosh, Clintonville, Wisconsin Rapids, Milwaukee and Weyauwega.

Surviving is the widow, three sons, all in California, and one daughter, Mrs. Roxanna Mason of Wauwatosa. Funeral services and cremation took place in California.

The committee then served a buffet luncheon with Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Foley pouring the coffee. The club will hold its next meeting on Monday evening, Oct. 16.

56 Persons Present at Luther League Meeting

Seymour—Fifty-six young people attended the Luther League meeting Tuesday evening at the Lutheran church. Twenty-two were guests, several of which joined the League. Miss Elaine Kallhofer led the discussion on "The Worker and his Future." The discussion was continued by the Rev. T. O. Ohlroge. Miss Fernie Huth, vice president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of the president. It was decided that the organization sell Lutheran Standards and Christmas seals again this year. Two teams will be organized for this purpose and the losing side will entertain the winners at a banquet. After the business meeting games were played.

Lawrence College Sororities Use Original Party Ideas for Entertainment of Freshman Rushees

Lawrence Freshmen Girls are Feted as Sororities Continue Whirl of Entertainment Events

STATION KD carried a program of facts and entertainment for the broadcast rushing party of Kappa Delta sorority Wednesday afternoon in Russell Sage parlors. Miss Alyce Jane De Long, Appleton, acted as mistress of ceremonies for the program which included a whistling act by Miss Betty Hotchkiss, Milwaukee; songs by Miss Harriet Peterson, Merrill; readings by Miss Lois Weinger, East Lee, Mass.; and original poems by Miss Jane Houts, Chicago.

The Kappa Delta Delta trio sang sorority songs, and K. D. facts were interspersed throughout the program. Russian tea was served in the studio. Miss Margaret Nebergall, South Bend, Ind., was chairman of the party.

A style show depicting the "women on recent magazine covers entertained rushees of Alpha Chi Omega at that sorority's magazine party Wednesday afternoon at the T. N. Barrows home. The models were Miss Dorothy Brown, Milwaukee, in fur; Miss Marie Illingworth, Niagara, in a wedding gown; Miss Janet Blumer, Monroe, in a sports dress; Miss Margaret Muenchow, Milwaukee, in a slinky red dress worn by a model on the cover of a detective magazine; Miss Betty Brown, Appleton, in a sports costume typifying the Alpha Chi Omega girl; Miss Ruth Schaefer, Manitowish, and Miss Marion Conklin, Proctor, Minn., in a business suit. As each guest entered the house she was given a magazine sheet which she ripped to represent in some way her birthday month. A contest of magazine slogans also was included in the program. Miss Lois Hubin, Plymouth, was in charge of arrangements for the party, and during the style show read a story appropriate to the occasion. Favors were little magazines containing sorority poems and other Alpha Chi Omega material.

Couple Honored on 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Landers, route 1, Appleton, were surprised by neighbors last night at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Walter Woods, route 3, Neenah, in celebration of their fortieth wedding anniversary. About 20 guests were present and prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Landers, Arthur Timm, John O'Neill and Mrs. Matt O'Neill.

Open house for friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Landers will be held Sunday afternoon and evening at their home.

Mae Bartman Feted at Party, Linen Shower

Mrs. August Trettin, 523 W. Eighth street, entertained 28 guests at a dessert bridge party and linen shower Wednesday night at her home in honor of Miss Mae Bartman, whose marriage to Ambrose J. Elten will take place Oct. 7. The evening was spent playing cards, prizes going to Mrs. John Lappen, Mrs. Warren Sager, Mrs. S. A. Konz, Mrs. C. O. Christopherson and Miss Myrtle Farrell.

Rummage Sale Sat., 9 A. M. Legion Club House.

In all the year there are never so many clever and original parties as the Lawrence college sorority girls crowd into rushing week. Pirate parties, pageants, cooking schools, broadcasts, undersea parties, carnivals and sports parties, to mention only a few, have been keeping freshman rushees busy since the opening teas Sunday. Evidence of the variety of entertainment are these pictures, each taken at a different sorority's party. Some of the cast for "Corn-a-poppin," comic opera presented by Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at its rushing party Tuesday afternoon at Russha; Miss Ruth Gray, Chicago; and Miss Barbara Rounds, Appleton.

Women Voters Hear Talk on War Problem

STOP thinking in terms of "neutrality" and try to look at the problem of the United States in present world affairs from a viewpoint of national self-interest, was the advice of Dr. Donald Du Shane, associate professor of government at Lawrence college, to members of the board of directors of the Appleton League of Women Voters which met last night at the Y. M. C. A.

"The present law is not neutrality," Dr. Du Shane said, "Nothing we have done or nothing we can do will be true neutrality. We should stop using the word neutrality since it doesn't mean anything anyway."

"Many people today don't want the present law changed for three reasons, one because they believe a change is a first step toward war. This feeling is an expression of uncertainty together with a lack of knowledge and a lack of trust of the president."

In answer to the popular belief that a change in the present neutrality act may lead to war for this country, Dr. Du Shane said that this country will go to war only if our present feelings toward war change.

No proposal the president has made so far will take us into war, he stated, and there should be no objection to changing our present neutrality stand provided we keep safeguards such as maintaining a cash and carry policy using only foreign ships to carry goods and keeping our ships out of danger zones.

Opinions Are Set
"The temper of the American people has cooled," Dr. Du Shane said. "More than 80 per cent of the people want England and France to win the war, about the same per cent blame Germany for the present European conflict but at the same time even a larger per cent of American people want us to stay out of the conflict."

"There are dangers in both neutrality stands. Under the cash and carry policy it is only one step further to blow up our docks where goods are loaded, and even stories where they are made. Yet if we don't change the law," he explained, "the war will drag out year after year until our foreign markets and customers are destroyed which will gain us nothing."

Dr. Du Shane explained why the present law was not true neutrality, using recent conflicts as examples. He pointed out that we can't send goods to Canada because that nation is at war with Germany, yet we can send guns to the allies with Germany. We are unable to help our neighbor and at the same time can help a country whose alliance we don't favor. England and France say we aren't being neutral. We ship copper, lead, oil and wheat to England and so far as Germany is concerned all these goods are contraband. In turn all goods we send to Germany, even though not munitions, are regarded as contraband by England.

We are just as likely to get dragged into war by selling raw materials as by selling munitions, the speaker said.

The proposal Roosevelt has made so far is to place munitions, aircraft and such back on the same basis that oil, copper and other goods has in trade with nations who can come and get it.

Should Be Self-Centered
We should be self-centered in our interest to maintain our own liberties, Dr. Du Shane said. He pointed out that what Russia is doing is on a basis of selfishness, what Germany is fighting for is self-interest, England and France are fighting to stop a potential menace to their futures in Europe. We feel that it is safer for Britain to control the seas rather than German submarines, but not enough to go to war about it. If that sentiment changes, we'll go to war, law or no law.

We'll be smart, he asserted, if we'll look after our own interests and make ourselves strong enough to defend ourselves, North America and possibly South America if we want to.

Dr. Du Shane discussed how to answer those people who are fatal-

Valparaiso U. Will Dedicate Physical Education Building

Local alumni of Valparaiso university have received word that the new health and physical education building of Valparaiso university will be dedicated Sunday, Oct. 8. The new building is located on a large lot adjacent to Brown field, the university athletic field, and contains courts for basketball and other indoor sports, and also provides facilities for instruction in physical education. One section will be devoted to sports for women.

The total cost of the building and equipment will be about $120,000, and of this amount $100,000 already has been raised, according to university officials. Dedication exercises will begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and Dr. W. H. T. Dau, president emeritus, and Dr. O. C. Kreinheder, former president, will participate.

Ralph Eohl, Appleton, a 1939 graduate of Valparaiso, is planning to attend.

New England Family Makes Appleton Visit

M. R. AND MRS. John Coppens and their son, John, Jr., Madawaska, Maine, are visiting with relatives in Appleton and Kimberly. Mrs. Coppens is the former Miss Linda King of Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bedison, Council Bluffs, Iowa, have returned home after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Finnegan, 120 E. Spruce street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Whitman, 114 S. Alton court, have returned from Chicago, where they took their younger son, Wendal, so that he could board the special train from Chicago to Northwestern Military academy at Lake Geneva, where he will be a sophomore this year.

The Whitmans' older son, James, left a week ago to resume his studies at Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H., where he will be a junior this year.

Town Trotters Club Resumes Activities

Town Trotters club resumed its meetings after the summer vacation Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harold Christen, 913 W. Spring street. Those present were Mrs. John Goehler, Mrs. Norman La Marr, Mrs. Frank Polzin, Mrs. Earl Goehler, Mrs. Ray Houfek and Mrs. Walter Gerard of Menasha. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. John Goehler and Mrs. La Marr, and the traveling prize went to Mrs. Gerard.

Mrs. La Marr was elected secretary-treasurer of the club. Plans were made for a dinner-dance Oct. 1 at Terrace Gardens. The next regular meeting will be Oct. 4 at the home of Mrs. La Marr, N. Clark street.

Miss Helen Filz, who attended the summer missionary conference at Mission House college, Plymouth, in August, gave a report on its sessions at the meeting of the missionary group of St. John Evangelical church.

He brought out answers to those who say we'll have to go over and finish it up like the last war, those who say we'll have to go into war if things go the wrong way. What good will it do for us to enter the war? he asked. We didn't save democracy the last time, we accomplished nothing the last time. Then he asked, why must we eventually enter the war? In answer he pointed out that if all Europe sank under the seas we'd feel sorry for the catastrophe, but we would get along without them.

Dr. Du Shane presented the history and background of the present neutrality measure which is based on the ideas that the last war was caused by munitions makers seeking profits and banking interests seeking to protect their loans. These are misinterpretations according to Dr. Du Shane, which led to the proposals to keep us out of war by outlawing munitions to belligerent nations, loans to foreign nations and keeping citizens off ships that might be sunk.

Stop for Arterials

Dr. Du Shane discussed how to answer those people who are fatal-

Observance of Yom Kippur to Begin Friday

YOM KIPPUR, the "Day of Atonement, the most sacred and important holiday in the Jewish calendar, will be observed by the three Jewish congregations, Beth Israel, Temple Zion and Moses Montefiore, beginning Friday evening and continuing through Saturday. The day is kept as one of fasting and prayer.

William B. Silverman, a student at the Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati, Ohio, who has been conducting New Year services for the Beth Israel congregation, will conduct Yom Kippur services which begin at 7:30 Friday evening. There will be services also at 10 o'clock Saturday, a memorial service at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the closing services at sundown. Miss Maude Harwood and Mrs. Guy Warner will sing vocal solos for the services.

At Beth Israel synagogue, A. L. Jacobson and Dave Schlimovitz will have charge of the Yom Kippur services, which begin at 6:30 Friday evening. There will be regular services at 6:30 Friday morning also. Yom Kippur services will continue at 7 o'clock Saturday morning and carry on throughout the day until sundown.

Rabbi Ralph De Koven will have charge of the English services and Rabbi A. Zussman of the Hebrew services for Yom Kippur at Moses Montefiore synagogue. They will take place at 6 o'clock Friday night, again Saturday morning and throughout the day until sundown.

A Yom Kippur dance is being planned by Ladies Aid society of Moses Montefiore congregation for Saturday night at Castle hall. Mrs. E. Nadel is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Walter Rosenzweig, Mrs. Joseph Berlin and Mrs. Morris Malofsky. Out-of-town guests are expected from Green Bay, Oshkosh and Manitowoc.

Plans for celebrating the tenth anniversary of Zion Lutheran mission society with a dinner Oct. 8 were made at the meeting of the society Wednesday afternoon at the parish hall. The Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor read an article entitled "Twelve Reasons Why Lutherans Should Attend Divine Services."

The special prize donated by Mrs. Mary Enrich was won by Mrs. Dallas Jensen.

Plans for a wiener roast next Wednesday afternoon at Erb park were made at the meeting of Circle 7 of First Congregational church Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. L. Small, 308 W. Prospect avenue. The group also discussed the bazaar Nov. 21. Twenty-five members were present. In two weeks the circle will meet with its captain, Mrs. Fannie Spencer, 711 E. Franklin street.

Miss Helen Filz, who attended the summer missionary conference at Mission House college, Plymouth, in August, gave a report on its sessions at the meeting of the missionary group of St. John Evangelical church.

MRS. JOSEPH LUCIA was chosen president of ladies auxiliary to Wisconsin Paid Firemen's association at a meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louis Hintz, 533 N. State street. Mrs. John McLaughlin was reelected vice president, Mrs. William Hillman was named secretary and Mrs. Emerson Turney was re-elected to office as treasurer.

The next meeting will be Oct. 5 at the home of Mrs. Elmer Brockman, 621 N. Center street.

Mrs. Julius Lenz, Mrs. John Brandt and Mrs. A. J. Kranhold won prizes at schafskopf and Mrs. Frank Goshua a special prize at the social meeting of Ladies Auxiliary at Eagles Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Four tables were in play. Next Wednesday a business and social meeting will be held at 7:30 in the evening, and the Neenah auxiliary has been invited to attend. Mrs. Roy Austin will be chairman.

Juvenile members of Branch 485, Aid Association for Lutherans, of Mt. Olive Lutheran church will entertain following the meeting of the branch at 8 o'clock Friday night in the church parlors. Friends of the members have been invited to attend.

A class of 92 candidates was initiated into Fraternal Order of Eagles at a meeting last night at Eagle hall which was attended by about 250 persons. The Green Bay degree team put on the work, and guests were present from Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Shawano and Green Bay.

Michael Gaffney, Fond du Lac.

Public installation of officers of John F. Rose chapter, Order of De Molay, will take place at a meeting at 7:15 this evening at Masonic temple. Robert Dettman will be seated as master counselor. Election of several officers to fill places of those who could not accept the offices will take place also.

Rebekahs Celebrate Anniversary of Lodge

A debate pertaining to the lodge featured the program presented Wednesday night at the meeting of Deborah Rebekah lodge in celebration of the lodge's eighty-eighth birthday anniversary. The meeting was held at Odd Fellow hall. Mrs. Effie Eberhardt, Miss Ruth Dawes and Mrs. Amelia Finkle upheld the affirmative side, and Mrs. Harold Thurber, Mrs. William Martin and Mrs. Josephine Burhans, the negative. Mrs. Oscar Bruss was chairman of the committee in charge of the program, which also included two songs by Mrs. Harold Thurber, Mrs. Vera Blakeslee. At the business session the lodge made arrangements for the weekly card party it will sponsor Monday afternoon at Odd Fellow hall.

Wilma Cotter Will Be Bride of Menasha Man

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cotter, 230 S. Teulah avenue, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Wilma, to Raymond Butowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butowski, 540 Third street, Menasha. No date has been set for the wedding.

state president of Eagles, was the main speaker, reviewing the work of Eagles in recent years as to legislation, and Paul Harsanyi, Milwaukee, deputy auditor, was present and spoke briefly. Registration at Lawrence College Shows Gain of 42

686 Students are Enrolled, Compared With 644 Last Year

Forty-two more students are enrolled at Lawrence college this year than at the same time last fall, according to registration figures released yesterday by Dean John S. Mills.

The figures are not final. Dean Mills pointed out, for registration will not close until Saturday, Sept. 30. Any subsequent changes, however, would be of minor nature.

A total of 686 students now are registered at the school, compared with last year's enrollment of 644. The increase in men at the college is almost identical with the total gain in the student body, it was pointed out. There are 40 more men on the campus this year than at the start of the 1938 fall semester.

In the college proper, there are 57 upperclassmen and 250 freshmen, a total of 607. Added to this is the group of 79 Lawrence Conservatory of Music students, which gives a total of 686.

This year's freshman class numbers 250, contrasted with 212 last year, Dean Mills reported. The Conservatory had 77 students last year.

Among upperclassmen, there are 195 men and 162 women. In the freshman class, there are 123 men and 127 women. The conservatory has 29 men and 50 women.

Classes at Lawrence college started Wednesday of this week.

Research Expert To Give Lecture

Dr. Phillips Thomas Talks Tomorrow Night on Electricity

Wonders of modern electrical development will be demonstrated by Dr. Phillips Thomas of the West-house research laboratories at 7:30 tomorrow night in Morgan school.

Dr. Thomas, who will be introduced by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., will have about 3,500 pounds of equipment to demonstrate during his lecture, which is open to the public. He is being brought to Appleton by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

How dust and smoke particles can be electrically charged and captured out of the air, the new lighting technique of "mood control," blue light, made in a finger-sized lamp, which casts a brilliance equal to one-fifth the sun's surface brightness—these are some of the demonstrations which Dr. Thomas will present.

PLAY IN 'DUST BE MY DESTINY'

An emotional experience seldom encountered within the walls of a theatre is provided by the new Warner Bros. picture, "DUST BE MY DESTINY," which will open at the Appleton Theatre on Saturday, September 23.

The superb playing of the film's two young stars, John Garfield and Priscilla Lane, makes it an intensely moving piece of drama. They bring to their portrayals such sincerity, such vivid truthfulness, such understanding of the characters they are creating that you will be utterly convinced of their reality.

"Stop, Look and Love," a merry-go-round of slap-happy romance, starring Jean Rogers and William Frawley, will be the companion feature.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Blizard

I'll go on home and get something to eat."

Welter Of Confusion

When Cecily Stuart left her shop, she was not going to Darelea to get a bite of lunch as she said. She couldn't have got a morsel past the lump in her throat. The nectar and ambrosia of the gods would have tasted like ashes in her mouth.

The taste of ashes was already there. The inanimate dust of there was in her heart. The gray film of them covered her mind, shutting out all thinking processes.

Her mind was a welter of confusion.

What had Locke to do with the missing pig? He wasn't guilty of stealing it! Yet he had gone away. He had told her that he was going berrying. Instead, he had taken a train for Bangor.

The memory of his clear eyes, his laughing mouth, his gay mockery, rose before her eyes. A man like that couldn't do such a thing.

But what did she know of a man like that? She knew him well enough to love him, but she knew nothing else of him. He came out of the blue—Mr. Lochinvar—and for all she knew, he might have been anything before he came into her shop.

Raffles. Tony had said, "Do I look like Raffles?"

Mr. Raffles was a smooth sort of person and Locke was smooth.

"If only Doug were here, he'd know," she said to herself, thinking that there was no one in whom she could confide, no one to tell her what he thought of Locke, no one who knew him.

There was Laura—

Cecily found her feet carrying her not toward Darelea but toward the railroad station. Perhaps the meat man—whatever he was—had been mistaken. There were other people who could have taken the noon train.

The railroad station slumbered in the mid-afternoon lethargy of all small stations. There were no signs of life in the dusty interior. There were only two trains a day. The noon train for Bangor and the incoming train which arrived at nine at night.

"Yoo-hoo!" Cecily called experimentally.

Joe Wilson popped an inquisitive head through the baggage room door, shifted his tobacco on one side of his mouth to the other and touched his cap.

"Ain't nuthin' come fer you today, Miz St'rt. Expectin' somethin'?"

"Ye-es," Cecily said, glad for an excuse for conversation. "Maybe it'll come tomorrow. How's business, Joe?"

"Ain't so good. Nobody travels on trains no more. Seems like everybody comes to Vickersport comes in their own automobiles and the rest of 'em comes in busses."

"Nothing will ever take the place of the train," Cecily pronounced sentimentally.

"That's what I tell 'em, but don't make no difference, it seems."

"There's been a number of short-staying guests at the inn. Don't they travel on trains?" She thought: I'll lead up to it so that Joe won't be suspicious.

"Nope," he answered dolefully.

"Ain't nobody takin' the noon train out of here in three days."

Cecily's heart zoomed up in her throat.

"Cepting them high-falutin' folks from Toronto come to visit Miz Brewster. They went off today."

"Goodness!" Cecily clucked in her throat. "How can the road afford to keep a station like this if that's all the customers you have?"

"There was that other young fellow. The one that has the Soder-son place down the North road."

Cecily's heart sank painfully again.

Report German U-Boat Fired Across Bow of U. S. Freighter

New York—(AP)—A German submarine fired a shot across the bow of the American freighter Wacosta Sept. 9 near the Irish coast because of a misunderstanding, the master of the American vessel said when it arrived Wednesday.

Captain George R. Self said he did not understand the submarine's blinker signal to heave to and before he could consult his code book the shot was fired.

The 24 passengers aboard the Wacosta were treated cordially by the submarine officer and three of his sailors who boarded the freighter, Self said.

Prof. Charles Wharton Stork of Harvard Junior college, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and a survivor of the sinking of the Athenia, acted as interpreter.

The Germans were stern when they first came aboard but fellow-travelers credited Stork with making it rather a pleasant visit.

"The officer was definitely a gentleman and society man," said Stork. "At first he seemed peeved because his signal was disregarded. He said it was given in the international code and in English. When he left, he said 'I'll see you at a tea dance in New York.'"

After satisfying himself as to the ship's papers and cargo, the officer lined up passengers and made a speech which Stork translated as follows:

"I regret to have detained you, but this is war. We did not want to go to war with England but we were forced. What would you think if someone took a piece of your southern coast? You would not like it."

Cross Purposes are Twisting European Mess Out of Shape

BY WESTBROOK FEGLER

New York—The human race day by day becomes more reminiscent of the wrestler who, in an enormous confusion of moist and slippery meat, clamped a toe hold on a foot which happened into his grasp and, to the tune of his own agonized whinnies, continued to twist until he broke his own ankle.

Thus the Irish echo of New York reports that on a recent evening in Belfast rebels against the "foul oppressor" in Buckingham palace expressed their sympathy with the cause of the British empire by converting an air raid blackout into a fiasco of bonfires and rockets. They filled old motor tires with paper soaked in gasoline, hung them on the crossarms of the blacked-out street lamps and set them afire in a gesture of sympathy for any nazi bomber who might have happened that way.

The grievances of the Catholic, or free state, Irish against the British empire are famous the world over, and any attempt to outlaw them on the ground of antiquity can be destroyed by citations from the record of the Black and Tans, as brutal a crew as ever dragged a Jew from his family midst in Germany and beat him to death with bats.

It seems impossible that the spying of the Gestapo in Czechoslovakia or Poland was any more treacherous or the cruelty of those terrorists any more vile than that of his late majesty's rif-raff in the days after the war to safeguard minorities.

Yet, in their efforts to sabotage the British war against Hitler, such Irish rebel spirits unavoidably, if reluctantly, place themselves on the side of another tyrant who is at least equally fiendish in his oppression of proud, honorable peoples who are, largely co-religionists of the Irish.

It seems juvenile indeed to say that the British in this present war are fighting to avenge Hitler's crimes against the Catholic Bohemians and Poles, but at least they are fighting the man and the system. And if Irish opposition through sabotage and spying against British shipping and the fleet should finally turn out to be exactly the factor which defeated the British and French, then Ireland would win her last degree of freedom at the expense of two of the small but equally decent religious and long-suffering peoples not very far away.

Can't Endorse One And Not The Other

Nevertheless, the opportune time to kick an oppressor is when he is wholly engaged in fighting someone his own size or bigger, and even though the disorders of the Irish rebels be unofficial, the perpetrators command the same admiration and benevolence that one gives to rebellious Czechs and Poles. It would be inconsistent to hope that Hitler's victims will always and constantly raise hell, kill his spies and bomb his governing agents in their beds and withhold endorsement of similar conduct by persons similarly placed in Ireland.

Yet such is the sentiment of the American people, or at least of a government having a mandate from them, that the main and incidental war aims of the British are heartily approved and action hostile to them is not consistent with these Irish who lit up the blackout in Belfast to help the nazi oppressors lick the British oppressors.

Not only these Irish, who seem to be an incorrigible minority, but a number of Americans, including many of Irish ancestry, find themselves, currently engaged in anti-Semitism here. This movement is an import from Germany and is distinctly ersatz, or phony, but some of those engaged in it, even members of the Catholic church, claim to believe that the Jew is Christianity's enemy.

Now What Minorities Are Being Oppressed

In baiting their Jewish neighbors, however, they collaborated with Hitler, who then suddenly dropped anti-Semitism and joined a political, economic and military offensive alliance with the Soviet Russia which Hitler once denounced as a Jewish-Bolshevik state but which, nevertheless, strangely, always refused to accept Jewish refugees from Germany.

Hitler is anti-Christian himself. Having long ago created a special god, a caricature of Christ, who acknowledged the nazis as his chosen people and excluded from his love, or even his tolerance, all persons not of German blood.

Now, those who would still persecute Jews as infidel bolsheviks find themselves still committed to Hitler and frisking his literature for material against Jewish Poland in

Circuit Class in Baking Organized

First Session This Afternoon at Appleton Vocational School

Bakers of Appleton and vicinity have organized a class at the Appleton Vocational school and opened their first session at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the school.

Four-hour sessions, from 1 o'clock to 5 o'clock Thursday afternoons, will be held. Bakers may come for all or part of the time. The instructor, Reider Strand, and the students will do actual work in class on portable baking equipment.

The class in painting and decorating for journeymen, which now has 13 members, will meet for the second time this evening. Carl Bertram, coordinator for the school, said today that registrations are still open for the class.

The foundry class opened Tuesday night of this week, with special foundry problems as its study. George Zabel of Appleton is the instructor.

Eighteen students are enrolled in the class on cosmetology which is being held for beauticians in Appleton, Kaukauna, Kimberly, and Little Chute. Josephine Chenoli is the circuit instructor for the class which convenes on Monday evenings. The course is for 10 weeks.

Wisconsin Health

The bureau of vital statistics is being swamped with requests for copies of birth certificates required for gaining pensions, entering school, or proving citizenship and sufficient age to take up employment.

This situation compels the state board of health to voice an urgent request to the people it serves. In practically every instance, the birth record of a Wisconsin native

It will insure prompter action to ask one or the other of these local offices for a copy of a birth certificate than to write to the state bureau for it.

The great increase of such requests resulting from the enactment of new pension laws has put the state bureau weeks behind in furnishing copies of birth certificates. As budget limitations will not permit employment of additional help, the cooperation of our

Howard Scott to Speak at Chapel

Technocracy Chief to Give Lecture Sept. 29 in Appleton

Howard Scott of New York City, director of Technocracy, Inc., will lecture at a public meeting at 8:15 Friday evening, Sept. 29, at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

Scott's visit will be his fifth to Appleton. Technocrats are planning on a large crowd to hear him, particularly because of the war in Europe and Technocracy's opposition to war. It is expected Scott will devote much of his speech to war conditions and their effect on the price system in North America.

On his tour Scott is scheduled to appear in 33 cities in the United States and Canada. His first stop will be Akron, Ohio, on Sept. 19, and the tour will end Dec. 11 in Los Angeles, Calif.

Scott will be accompanied by Hillmen B. Holcombe, New York City, and the tour party will arrive in Appleton Sept. 29 and will leave Neenah Sunday, Oct. 1, for Minneapolis where Scott is scheduled to appear at a public meeting.

The Fun Begins an Hour From Now

THROW down your newspaper, turn off your radio—get your family and grab your hat!

Down on the streets right now is the bright and beaming face of a 1940 Nash. And just looking at it will make you feel good all over!

One sweet sweep of glittering line, it looks gay as a Mardi Gras—and twice as exciting.

But don't waste time staring. You belong in the driver's seat. For that's where the fun begins.

Before you start, turn on the Weather Eye to the comfort you want. (It offers new conditioned air wonders this year.)

Just a nudge of your toe, and in one split-second you'll get a good idea of what a hundred-odd stampering horses can do. Three finger flicks—and the gears are shifted. Then—a lift, a rush, a click—and a new Fourth Speed Forward lends soft wings to your ride.

Don't worry about that Sunday driver ahead. There's something new in the throttle—the Nash Automatic Overtake. Just press your toe—and leave him dawdling in your dust, wondering where you came from—or where you went.

Then head for a backwoods road where the others dare not follow... and feel what happens.

Ruts and bumps rush up to meet your spinning wheels, but—they never seem to reach you. Your hands stay idle on the wheel.

It's riding magic, pure and simple. A ride so smooth, so level, so silent that you might be in your easy chair at home, or sleeping in the Nash convertible bed.

It's the new Arrow-Flight Ride... result of an entirely new springing combination... and we dare you to say you've ever experienced anything like it, or known steering that was so sure and effortless.

With singing heart, you give the throttle another nudge.

From where you're sitting, the world looks like one straight, unending ribbon of road ahead... in a land of perpetual spring.

It is—and always will be, in your Nash... long after other cars are parked for good.

We're asking you, with nothing but your own preferences, experiences, and instincts, to get behind the wheel of a 1940 Nash. For ten glorious minutes—that's all.

Then decide if any other car today... of any power, weight, or wheelbase... can give you as much downright fun as this new, lower-priced Nash!

Get your hands on it now—for you'll regret every minute you don't own one! Your Nash dealer is waiting. Come on—it's getting late—let's go!

Again...it's that new NASH

NEW LOWER PRICES This 1940 Deluxe Nash LaFayette Sedan costs only $875.00, delivered at factory, standard equipment and Federal taxes included. George Schwalbach has been granted a permit to construct a home at 1716 S. Kernan avenue, at an estimated cost of $3,500. The house will be 30 by 24 feet in size.

Permission to remodel her home has been granted Mrs. Anna Miller, 515 S. Walnut street, at a cost of $225. Frank Frye, 519 S. Douglas street, also has received permission to remodel his residence, at a cost of $125.

The Riverside Greenhouse, 1236 E. Pacific, will make improvements costing about $75, according to a permit issued by the city building inspector.

Fair and Warmer Weather Forecast

Temperature Falls to Low 40's in Much of State This Morning

The weather bureau today predicted fair and somewhat warmer weather for Wisconsin tonight and Friday as temperatures fell to the low 40's in much of the state and to 39 at Wausau early this morning. Other low marks were 40 at LaCrosse and Park Falls, 44 at Milwaukee 46 at Green Bay and 48 at Madison.

The lowest mark in Appleton during the 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning was 47 degrees at 6 o'clock this morning according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The highest point was 68 degrees at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Things warmed up a bit today with the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building registering 73 degrees early this afternoon. Highest and lowest temperatures reported yesterday at official weather stations were 107 degrees at Los Angeles, Calif., and 39 degrees at Wausau and Yellowstone, according to the Associated Press.

American Crew Mans Finnish Freighter

Detroit.—Manned by a crew which included 14 American sailors, the Finnish freighter Maud Thoden was off on the first leg of its homeward voyage today.

Delayed here two days when crewmembers refused to risk the hazardous "of Atlantic crossings, the vessel sailed late last night for Cleveland to pick up a cargo of iron.

Captain Armas Engstrom reported the rebellious seamen had been paid off and discharged at their own request and had been replaced by 14 American sailors.

Name 'All-Americans' In Yearbook Judging

Minneapolis.—Names of 122 "All-Americans" in the college and high school yearbook field for 1939 were announced today by the National Scholastic Press association from among 921 entrants.

Among the 122 were the State Teachers college, Whitewater, Wis., and the State Teachers college, Platteville, Wis.

Soviet Troops are Within 15 Miles of Hungarian Border

Thousands of Polish Soldiers, Civilians Flee Across Frontier

BY ELMER W. PETERSON

Munkacs, Hungary.—(P)—Soviet Russian troops were reported only 15 miles from the Hungarian border today in their sweep across eastern Poland, moving forward without interruption on the heels of thousands of Polish soldiers and civilians.

The miserable human flood preceding the red army continued to pour into Hungary, seeking sanctuary in the Carpathian mountains. It was estimated that more than 30,000 Poles had reached Hungarian soil and still they came.

Traveling over 50 miles of muddy and rain-puddled highways and roads branching through to three mountain passes, I witnessed the immigration. Hungary was the only southern refuge left, now that Russian troops have blockaded the Rumanian border.

I saw small children, some half-naked and all of them hungry. Some of them, separated from their parents, had been taken in hand by Hungarian peasant women. Grown men wept at the sight of these youngsters trooping along in the mud.

I saw blood-spattered train, bullet-torn automobiles, and damaged military trucks—Polish military memorials.

Families Separated
I saw women whose faces were white with fatigue. They smiled wanly at the thought that crossing a frontier could give so much personal safety.

I heard young officers pleading for some way of getting information on the fate of their families. They were more than 200 trucks, there were more than 200 trucks, automobiles, and motorcycles—all packed to overflowing with weary, homeless humanity. It was a parade of tragic faces.

Three weeks ago in Warsaw I saw the Polish army gathering in confident readiness to fight. Yesterday, after a 1,500-mile round-about journey from the Polish capital, I saw a part of that same army in bedraggled retreat into a neutral country.

There is irony in this retreat. The rain for which the Poles prayed has started but too late. Now, instead of bolstering Polish strength, it adds to the general misery and confusion.

Many Not in Battle
Many of the Polish troops I saw had not experienced actual conflict. Others had and their faces tightened when they spoke of it. A shrug and "What could we do against so many airplanes, tanks and armored cars with only machine-guns?"

A note of sheer despair: "But what difference does all that make? What has become of my family?" And seated in one officer's memory: "I saw hundreds of Polish soldiers killed . . . hundreds I tell you . . . trying to fight tanks and armored cars . . . trying to fight them with nothing but our bare hands."

For the most part they stood aloof, these Polish soldiers, or shuffled along quietly to be disarmed and armored cars with only machine-guns.

As to civilians—very few peasant homes near the frontier are not sheltering at least one refugee. Hungarian women met the newcomers along the roads, giving them bread, fruit and water.

2 Persons are Fined For Overtime Parking

Two persons pleaded guilty of violating the city parking restrictions and each was fined $1 and costs by Municipal Judge Thomas H. Ryan Wednesday afternoon. They are Helen Windler, 1141 E. College avenue, and Morrow E. Hermer, 834 E. Winnebago street.

Woman Injured in Traffic Accident On College Avenue

Mrs. Clara Vedner, 46, 323 W. Seventh street, suffered bruises of the left hip and elbow when she was struck by a truck driven by Harold Wynboom, 23, Little Chute, about 7 o'clock this morning at the intersection of W. College avenue and Superior street. She was taken to a physician's office for treatment.

The truck had just started away from a stop at the red light and was going east on College avenue when the accident occurred. Mrs. Vedner was walking across College avenue going north on the west crosswalk, police reported.

An unknown motorist swerved from N. Drew street about 4 o'clock this morning, broke off a light pole and ran into the yard at 1320 N. Drew street, police reported. The driver apparently backed his car to the street and drove away after the accident. Police are investigating.

DEATHS

FRED ROBERT RUSSLER

Fred Robert Russler, 59, 225 E. Washington street, died at 7 o'clock last night at his home after a 5-week illness. He was born in Germany May 3, 1880, and came to the United States with his mother when 4 years old, living in Oshkosh, Marshfield and Antigo before coming to Appleton in 1934. He was a locomotive engineer the last 34 years for the Chicago and North Western railroad. Mr. Russler was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Surviving are the widow; two daughters, Lois, Shirley, at home; a son, Frederick, at home; and a half-brother, Carl Phillips Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Wichmann Funeral home by Dr. Harry C. Culver. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery at Oshkosh. The body will be at the funeral home from Friday morning until time of funeral services.

HENRY PRAHL

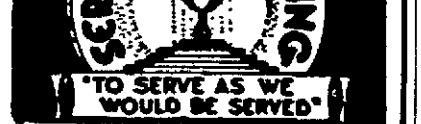

Henry Prahl, 65, lifelong town of Lebanon resident, died at his home at 11:30 Wednesday night after a two-week illness. He had been in poor health the last 12 years. Mr. Prahl was born in the town of Lebanon May 13, 1874.

Surviving are the widow; a son, Carl, at home; seven brothers, Edward, Frank, Herman, Otto, August, Albert, New London; Louis, Oshkosh; two half-brothers, Fred, Oshkosh; William, Shawano; one sister, Mrs. Ida Schoepke, Crandon, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 Saturday afternoon at the residence and at 2 o'clock at Emmanuel Lutheran church in New London by the Rev. W. E. Pankow. Burial will be in the Ostrander cemetery.

Charge Duel Appointment Violates Party Platform

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison.—Far-reaching political repercussions were presaged today with the appointment of a Republican state senator to the $5,000 a year post of insurance commissioner by Governor Julius P. Heil.

Not only did that appointment disappoint scores of others who sought the job, it tore asunder one of the widely publicized planks of the Republican state platform of 1938 on which Governor Heil and other members of his administration won election.

Although Senator Duell's nomination by the governor won only praise from Republican legislators, some of them admitted privately that they were acutely conscious of

Burglars, Believed Same That Robbed High School, Busy

Burglars, believed to have been the same that robbed Appleton High school Monday night, made an unsuccessful attempt early today to blow off the door of a safe at the Farmers Supply company in Avalon, 10 miles from Janesville, according to the Associated Press.

Sheriff Owen Rex said he believed the same gang responsible which tried to rob a high school at Sharon and which "perhaps was responsible for the $400 robbery at Appleton High school."

The cracksmen entered the vault at Appleton High school, blew a small safe with nitro-glycerine and escaped with an estimated $400 in cash. Damage to the building and the vault probably will be more than the amount lost in cash, school authorities said.

Births

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Morkensen, 808 E. North street, this morning at St. Elizabeth hospital.

proaching Rumania's northern frontier." Other Budapest sources said they believed a long-expected revolt of the iron guard had come. The Rumanian legation in Belgrade said after vain attempts to telephone Bucharest that it looked as if the iron guard already was in charge.

Automobile Blocked
The premier was driving in his car on Bucharest's main street, on his way to the royal palace, when he was shot.

His car was suddenly blocked, reportedly by three other machines. The three cars converged on that of the premier while a peasant cart blocked the road ahead.

Calinescu's campaign against the Iron Guard came to a head in the fall of 1938 and since then police have announced discovery of a half-dozen "revenge" plots against him. He became head of the government March 7, 1939, succeeding the late Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian church.

On June 17, police said iron guardists planned to assassinate Calinescu and King Carol with hand grenades at a race track.

Calinescu was minister of interior in charge of police on Nov. 30, 1938, when Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, iron guard leader and so-called "little Hitler" of Rumania, was shot dead by guards, "while attempting to escape" during a transfer from one prison to another, according to the official version.

Refused Bodyguard
Besides Codreanu, his 14 chief aides also were shot. At that time there were reports that iron guardists had taken an oath to assassinate Calinescu in revenge.

Despite the frequent reported discovery of such plots against him, the premier steadfastly refused to have a bodyguard.

It was said that Calinescu—a small man with a slight limp—was covered by a black monacle—old King Carol when the monarch begged him to employ guards.

"No man can escape his fate," (In Budapest Rumania legation sources reported there had been a paragraph in their statement of principles of last fall which read:

"We propose to stop the further appointment of members of the legislature or elected executive state officers to any state office during the term for which they were elected. We denounce the scandalous violation of this principle by the Progressive state administration." (Phil LaFollette appointed two of his supporters in the senate, Phil Nelson, and E. M. Rowlands, to state jobs in 1937.)

Assemblyman Mark Catlin of Appleton, one of the Republican floor-leaders in the lower house, would not comment on the Duell selection yesterday. Catlin recently introduced a resolution aimed at calling attention to the platform reference to the selection of legislators to state jobs. It was adopted in the assembly, shouted down in a voice vote in the senate.

Catlin is a close friend and political associate of Elmer R. Honkamp of Appleton, who is Eighth district Republican chairman, and who earlier was regarded as a candidate for the insurance job.

There was a report today, which could not be substantiated, that Orville Hegner of Appleton, also an Outagamie county Republican figure, may be chosen deputy commissioner under Duell.

The retiring commissioner, Harry Mortensen, did not have a deputy. Duell appeared today to be in no hurry to take over his new job. He said that he would arrange for a bond within the next few days, and would make no public statement until he has actually taken over the control of state insurance regulation.

Governor Recalls Name of McMahon From Upper House

Gives No Explanation And Does Not Indicate Alternative Choice

Madison.—(P)—Governor Heil today recalled from the senate his nomination of Stephen J. McMahon of Wauwatosa as director of the reorganized state tax department.

The governor gave no explanation for his action and did not indicate who would be appointed in McMahon's place.

Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman announced last week judgment warrants arising out of court actions and totaling nearly $20,000 had been filed with the secretary of state's office as claims against McMahon's salary.

The governor's notification reached the senate as the body was about to vote on confirmation of the tax department setup.

It approved unanimously the governor's appointment to the three-man board of tax appeals which will pass upon determinations of the director. The board members and dates their terms expire are: Harry Slater, of Milwaukee, May, 1941; D. L. Broadfoot of Mondovi, May, 1943; W. J. Conway of Wisconsin Rapids, May, 1945.

Senator Milton T. Murray (R) Milwaukee, later raised a point of order that Heil had not authority to withdraw McMahon's appointment once it was before the senate.

Lieutenant Governor Walter S. Goodland took the question under advisement but said off the floor he did not believe the senate could vote on the nomination.

Sophomores Organize Trippett Triangle Club

A group of Appleton High school sophomores formed the Trippett Triangle club at the Y. M. C. A. last night and elected Edward Blackman president.

Other officers are Riley Solie, vice president; Billy Cherkasky, secretary-treasurer; and Sheldon Larson, sergeant-at-arms. The club has 11 members at present.

Milwaukee Woman Is Given Divorce Decree

Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning granted Mildred Repinski, 24, Milwaukee, a divorce from Frank Repinski, 27, on a charge of cruel and inhuman treatment. The plaintiff was given the custody of a minor child and $5 a week for its support. The couple married July 22, 1933, at Waukegan and separated in August this year.

BY GAYLE TALBOT
DETROIT—(AP)—A crushing right to the jaw sent Little Bob Pastor to his knees, dazed, helpless, in the 11th round at Briggs stadium last night, and Champion Joe Louis had snuffed out one more fighter who made the mistake of facing him the second time.

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

THE NORTHERN STATE LEAGUE directors gathered last evening at the Beaumont hotel at Green Bay, heard a few more or less hot words passed and then decided by a vote of 5 to 1 that Clintonville's protest over Seymour's use of Eddie Raab in that playoff game last week, was unwarranted and that Seymour officially was the second round champion of the Northern State league.

Clintonville had protested Sunday's 2-1 win by Seymour on the score that it did not give Seymour permission to use Raab to replace Hammy Powell who was injured. Seymour, however, claimed that Manager Len Goerlinger had given the club permission to use any shortstop in the league, a practice that is common among all leagues. But, the story goes, Clintonville directors had other ideas and they were the ones who instigated the protest.

In also was decided that the championship playoff between Clintonville and Seymour will start Sunday with the first game at Seymour. The second will be staged at Clintonville on Oct. 1, and the third, if necessary, at the city drawing the largest crowd. All games will be day games.

So, it appears that Seymour is sitting behind the 8-ball in one respect. Sunday is the Bear-Packer game at Green Bay and most sports fans will be in City Stadium. But Bill Row is optimistic and says he'll have a crowd although admitting it probably won't be as large as Clintonville's the following week. And both crowds probably will be smaller than they might have been had the season ended sooner.

Oh, yes, Seymour got its share of the gate. It was the full 60 per cent which was scheduled to go to the winner.

Yesterday afternoon we took off a few hours from thinking about football and such like and got in a round of golf with Drs. J. B. MacLaren and A. E. Rector and Jake Mathews at Riverview. It was the fourth straight year that the match has been staged and, sorry to relate, the Macs still haven't a victory to their credit.

Of course we hadn't figured that Dr. Rector would have joined the ranks of the pros during the past summer for we believed he was too busy making trips around the state in the interest of the state medical society. But it seems he has, and yesterday he saved his twosome on at least a half dozen occasions.

Jake has been laid up with a touch of blood poisoning in an arm and his game wasn't up to par. But when Jake missed an approach shot or failed to put a putt near the cup, Dr. Rector would pull a shot out of Walter Hagen's bag and the Rector-Mathews combination would score another point or two.

So, before the afternoon and evening ended with a couple big steaks safely stowed away, the two Macs took a solemn vow that next season when the match was staged there'd be a couple more pros matching strokes and there would be a winner other than the Rector-Mathews duo.

St. Norbert Has 11 Lettermen But Will Need Its Sophomores

(Editors Note: This is the third of a series of articles written for the Associated Press by coaches of Wisconsin college teams on football prospects at their schools.)

BY FRANCIS J. MCCORMICK
St. Norbert College Football Coach
Written For the Associated Press

DETROIT—(AP)—The success of the St. Norbert football team this season will depend to a great extent on just how the sophomore prospects shape under the strain of a tough seven-game schedule.

Although we have 11 lettermen back, the sophomore candidates will have to fill in spots left vacant by graduation of five valuable performers.

The backfield problem does not exist in the Green Knights' stronghold this year. We have five letter winners, all with plenty of experience.

Colonels Winners In Another Game

Louisville Holds 2-1 Edge
Over Indianapolis
In Playoff

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Louisville's hot-shot Colonels held a two-to-one edge over Indianapolis today in their four-out-of-seven games American association playoff finals following a 4-3 win over the Tribe here last night before 6,447 paying fans.

Big Bud Parmelee pitched magnificent ball for nine innings, limiting the Tribe to two hits and fanning 11, but then he weakened and Wes Flowers had to come in and halt an Indiana rally.

Parmelee contributed a fielding error to let a runner on with one out in the last frame, and Myron McCormick promptly tripled and Allen Hunt singled to score two runs for Indianapolis. Reliever Flowers yielded a single, but tightened to retire the next two batters.

Indianapolis scored a run in the second on a walk and a double by Jesse Newman. The Colonels took away the lead in the same frame on two singles and a double.

A single, a triple by Stan Spence and a single by Bob Boken accounted for Louisville's other two runs in the sixth.

gress rules with a few local rules regarding schedule and penalties. There will be ten teams in the league this year. The schedule for the first week is:

Oct. 2—Boston Store versus Pete's Tavern.
Oct. 3—7 o'clock, D-X versus Louisville's Super Shell.
Oct. 3—9 o'clock, Fremont versus W. Bloomfield.
Oct. 5—Bammels versus Nestles, Inc.
Oct. 6—Chevrolets versus Fords.

Clintonville—Arrangements were completed Wednesday for a ball game between the champion Chicago Fire Department nine and the FWD Truckers. The game is to be played on the athletic field Thursday evening, Sept. 28.

The Chicago Fire Department team is regarded as one of the strongest teams outside of the big leagues. The game is being sponsored through the cooperation of all of the civic groups in the city and will be preceded by some unusual features and exhibitions by members of the fire department squad.

JOE LOUIS KNOCKS OUT BOB PASTOR IN ELEVENTH ROUND
Here's the knockout finish of the Joe Louis-Bob Pastor heavyweight fight in Detroit, with the champion standing over his helpless foe. The end came after 38 seconds of the 11th round. Sam Hennessy is the referee. Pastor was down four times in the first round and again in the second, but held on and seemed to be coming back when Louis' dynamite struck in the fatal 11th.

Shawano Preps For NEW Opener

Veteran Right Guard,
Frank Tilch, Lost for Several Weeks

Shawano—Apparently satisfied with the work of his linemen, Coach Clifford Dilts shifted backs in various combinations this week to improve his team's offensive strength as the Shawano Indians drilled for the game at West DePere Saturday which will open the season for both teams in the western division of the Northwestern Wisconsin conference.

Only casualty of the curtain-raising 21 to 0 win over Menominee last Saturday was Frank Tilch, veteran right guard. Tuesday a doctor told Tilch the ligaments in his right leg were torn and it may be some time before he plays football again. The stocky junior left the game Saturday twice because of a leg injury, staying out the second time. In practice sessions this week his place was filled by Bill Dicke.

Tuesday night the Maroon and Black mentor shifted Jerry Doan from quarter to fullback, with Roger Cantwell, who had alternated with Doan, at the quarter post. Billy Reed and Lyle Berton played the halves, and the combination showed promise. Rouleau Gauthier, who was shifted to the second team, proved a bearcat on defense against the varsity, however, and may be back in there when the team takes the field against the Black Phantoms.

The varsity also worked several plays with Cantwell at fullback and Doan at quarter.

The line remained unchanged except for Dicke. Included in the practice sessions were Jim Anderson, who caught five consecutive passes Saturday, and Harvey Priem at ends, Milton Nehls and Frank Hackner at tackles. Dicke and Ray Waelchli at guards, and Bob Schweers at center. Only Waelchli and Nehls on the current first string are seniors.

The end positions should be taken care of effectively by Vic Kant, of Clintonville; Ed O'Connell, of Detroit; and Mel Palluconi, of Iron Mountain, Mich. Bob Hartman, of Juneau, also a letter winner, will not play this year because of an ARNOLD MEYER thundered a 255 game and 638 series for individual honors and paced Atlas Printers to a high team series of 2,781 during Industrial league matches at Arcade alleys last night. Pond Sport Shop collected top team game of 982.

Lead by Meyer, the Printers dumped Montgomery-Ward out of a first place tie with a 3-game victory. J. Gebheim smacked a 223 game to aid the winners while Joe Hermann topped the losers with a 206 single and a 502 series.

Power Company stayed in a tie for first place with a 2-game victory over Chair Company. Mike Sakallaris singled 202 and tripled 549 and E. Boettcher bagged 201 for the Powers while Wally Dorin hit 202 and H. Voster showed 211 for the losers.

Share League Lead
Frederick Barbers retained their share of the league lead when they downed Wire Works in two games. Malcolm Buck rattled a 234 game and 608 series and O. Gossen thumped 227 for the victors while William Lesseyong series 502 and G. Weiland rolled 207 for the losers.

Atlas Embossers lost the first game to Al's Bar by seven pins but won the next two with ease when the fifth legler showed up. Lyle VanderVelden was high with games of 205 and 203 for a 575 series. Tops for the losers was Orville Perrine with a 475 total.

Riverside kepters won their first two games of the season in a match with Coated Paper. Herb Brock whipped games of 208 and 202 for a 604 series while both G. Davis and W. Desort had games of 202 for the winners. John Plach paced the losers with a 538 series.

Hits 608 Series
Bob Loesslyoung slammed down games of 213 and 220 for a 608 series. O. Strutz banged 207 and W. Greens hit 201 as Mellow Brew took two games from Post Office. Wally Grimmer totaled 528 and W. Horn steamed a 224 game for the losers.

Schlafer Supply Company picked up two games from Tuttle Press as Clarence Below showed 461. Sherman Kapp maintained the losers with a 506 series.

Pond Sport Shop won two games from Woolen Mills as Lyleon Seims rolled 545. C. Pond cracked 224. Schmidt hammered 223 and R. Kunitz grooved 206. Edwin Heck was high for the losers with games of 216 and 227 for a 591 series.

Ohio State Lateral Pass

By JIM CROWLEY, Fordham Coach

Ohio State actually gets six men into its interference on this deceptive lateral pass from short punt formation. The entire left side of the line, after bumping the opposing forwards, goes after the secondary. The right guard helps the right halfback and fullback. The quarterback gets the center snap and runs toward the left. He hands the ball to the fullback, who is running toward the right. The left half runs deep toward the right and takes the fullback's lateral just as the latter approaches the line. The center blocks the defensive right guard. The right tackle dumps the left guard and the right end drives the left tackle in. The right halfback spills the left end.

Waupaca High Has New Sports Field

Baseball, Softball, Touch Football Will be Played This Fall

Waupaca—Waupaca High school's athletes initiated a new sports field when practices took place Monday and Tuesday afternoons of this week. More than eighty boys who signified interest in baseball and kitten ball were divided into six teams, captains were appointed and schedules arranged by Coaches William Cullen and Vincent Graham.

Harold Canaan, also of the high school faculty, is organizing a hockey squad. Twenty-five boys expressed interest in that sport and equipment has been ordered. Mr. Canaan also is instructing in golf two nights of the week.

Touch football is planned for Monday and Wednesday nights after school while baseball will occupy the attention of the boys on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Coach William Cullen, who has been with Waupaca one year, also is organizing the squad. Tackle football is impossible for lack of facilities.

The new athletic field, purchased in August by the city, is on Royallton street and is known as the Stewart-Tractor addition. The plot covers 16 acres and is 1,000 feet x 720 feet.

The team captains are Gordon Jensen, Roger McLean, Ervin Beach, Kenneth Emmerichs, Erving Cohen and Phillip Stenmetts. With Jensen are Leonard Groholski, Everett Neilsen, Robert Babin, LaVerne Rasmussen, Harland Neuman, Claude Parse, Tom Pinkerton, Charles Jenkins, Perry Minton and Bob Christofferson.

On McLean's team are Tom Holly, Kenneth Peterson, Kenneth Cook, Keith Harrington, Elmer Holman, Everett Doerflinger, Kenneth Feldman, Jack Erickson, Don Bonnell and Sam Taylor. Beach's team consists of Robert Procknow, Charles Boone, Wallace Neimuth, Roger Mathson, Edgar Knight, Ben Jorgenson, Roger MaMay, Bob Hall and Russell Barton. Emmerichs captains Wendall McHenry, Kenneth Peterson, Clifford Lewis, Jimmie Potts, Norman Peterson, Morris Smith, Douglas Zwickey, George Drivas and Ward Rudersdorf.

Detroit's Darktown Residents Let Loose In Nightlong Revelry

Detroit (AP)—The Paradise Valley folk residents of Detroit's darktown who knew Joe Louis from the days when he was one of them, filled the streets with merrymaking until dawn today in tribute to their own great champion.

Hardly the count of 10 rolled from the booming loudspeakers when buildings of the quarter disgorged their listening crowds into the street where they piled into each other's arms to release their pent-up enthusiasm in a wild session of swing.

The very vigor of the celebration kept its object at a distance. Crowds which rapidly grew unmanageable gathered outside the night spots where Louis was scheduled to make an appearance, and Joe took one look at the surging throng and pointed his car homeward.

There his mother and his wife waited after listening to a broadcast description of the fight.

"I'm tired," Joe announced, and while the clamor of the crowd grew steadily louder outside, the champion fell asleep.

Grid Situation at Minnesota Is Real Cause for Deep Gloom

BY JAY VESSELS
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The tornado victim mournfully viewing farm-yard wreckage has a sympathizer in Coach Bernie Bierman at Minnesota.

Bierman likewise doesn't know just where to begin in trying to fix pieces back together. The news perplexing him comprises the ruins of those golden Gopher dream teams that won four Big Ten titles and three mythical national championships in the past seven years. The blow that smashed the 1938 outfit obliterated eight parts of the titular machine. That leaves three surviving pieces for the flimsy 1939 foundation.

Naturally, Coach Bierman's disposition fits perfectly into the sad, sombre picture. He professed to be grieved in the years when championship teams were in the making. But nobody shared his sorrow. Now at least some of the folks sympathize with him.

You get the impression around the campus that the thing to do is to forget 1939 ambitions and look to the future, because there is some promising young material. So the best guess seems to be to concede at least two defeats to the class of opponents comprising the class of the Big Ten, namely Northwestern, Ohio State, Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin. Then there's powerful Nebraska and Iowa and the opener with Arizona.

The fans already are storming the ticket windows, presaging the usual ticket mania dating back to the days when everybody hereabouts developed that "they can't beat us" complex.

The team's scoring punch will depend greatly on Van Every's passing, punting and plunging from the left half post. Franck and Christensen and a sophomore, Bruce Smith, will help in the backfield.

Bierman says he doesn't know who will be quarterback. Asked about the line, he snapped: "Just say that Captain Wid Pederson will play tackle."

Clintonville's record the last few years has been nothing to look back at for it hasn't won a conference game in four years. This year's squad is an improvement over the past few squads but Coach Johnson is not looking forward to a championship. Several boys who were with the squad last year did not turn out for practice but there is a big crop of freshmen. Coach Johnson has built his squad up to over 40 boys but only half of them will be ready for competition.

The problem of filling holes left by graduation has just about been completed with Harold Mack filling Ronal Fillnow's shoes at center. Jim Billmeyer at quarterback replacing Jack Martin, and Gus Burdick and Jim Werner attempting to take Ozzie Goerlinger's fullback post. Of the four boys, only Mack, Billmeyer and Werner will be ready for action Friday evening. Burdick, who was Goerlinger's understudy at full last season, will be out for another week with a shoulder injury. The Clinis still have to find someone to do the passing and kicking which was handled by Goerlinger. Burdick did some kicking last season and when he returns to the lineup this job will be filled. A good passer still is needed.

The starting lineup has not been announced as yet by Coach Johnson but during scrimmages the early part of this week Joe Baur and Lyle Roloff worked the ends, Curt Lemke and Ed Schuelke at tackles, Captain Bud Laux and Dusty Stutchman at guards, Harold Mack at center, Jim Billmeyer at quarter, Art Zemke and Jim Breed at halves and Jim Werner at full.

Chicago Bears are Tough Assignment For Bay Packers

Team Is Loaded With Famous Gridders; Many are Veterans

GREEN BAY—Gridiron rivals since 1921, the Chicago Bears add Green Bay Packers clash here Sunday afternoon in the 41st game of their football feud at the City stadium.

The Bears hold a two game edge over the Packers, having won 19 contests to the Packers 17. Four of the combats were tied up. The Chicagoans have counted 368 points and the Bays 338.

The Halas hirelings have bumped the Packers three years running in the games here but the Packers have handed the Bears a similar dose of medicine over the same period at Wrigley field Chicago.

"Loaded for Bear"
Next Sunday the Chicagoans are coming loaded for "Bear." Their veteran squad is augmented by a crop of stellar recruits, several of whom rank among the topnotch "freshmen" in the National Football league. Three of George Halas' yearling backs, Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross; Sid Luckman, Columbia, and Bill Patterson, Baylor, are triple threat specialists who earned All-American ratings last year in collegiate football.

In Frank Bausch, center; George Musso, guard, and Joe Stydahar, tackle, the Bears have a trio of husky linemen who rank with the best in the "cash-and-carry" circuit. Musso goes over 270 pounds and he is a pretty tough customer out there on the field.

Among the veteran backs—who will lug the ball against the Packers are Ray Nolting, Bernard Masterson, Bob Swisher and "automatic" Jack Manders, who also specializes in field goals.

It looks like a tough assignment for Green Bay but the Packers always give the Bears the toughest kind of a battle and Coach E. L. Lambert figures his squad will rise to the occasion this weekend and give the Windy City Bruins all they are looking for.

Bobby Cahn, one of the ace officials in the Pro league, has been named by President Carl Stork to referee the "battle royal." Working with Cahn will be Reese of Denison, Kucpetnik, Iowa State, and Bacon of Wabash.

Girls Team Defeated By Oshkosh Squad, 6-3
In weather more suitable for football than football, the Oshkosh girls' team defeated Appleton for the fifth straight time this season here last night, 6 to 3. Lucille Schroeder of Oshkosh retired 13 Appleton batters on strikes and allowed but five hits.

The Appleton girls' team will meet the Appleton Bluejays at Foster field Friday night for the city championship.

Ruppel Returns To Point Squad

Stevens Point (AP)—The largest squad in years—both in weight and number—has reported to football coach Eddie Kotal of Central State Teachers college.

Kotal, a former Green Bay Packer backfield star, has 60 men fighting for first team jobs, included on the roster are three men who go well over 200 pounds. They are Roger Bernstein of Brodhead, a guard who weighs 238; Roy Otto of Lyndhurst, 220-pound tackle, and Gregory Dorsna of Stevens Point, a 212-pound end.

Veterans returning include Fe Bohan, end and captain; Henry Warner of Stevens Point; Kenneth Parr of Rhineland; Elmer Hoffman of Gillette; Frank Koehn of Little Chute; Ernie Ruppel of Appleton; Jim Hanig of Merrill; Bob Bishop of Antigo; Bob Dana, Jim Cashion and Bob Reading of Stevens Point, and Maurice Van Dyke of Little Chute.

National League Flag May Hinge on Card-Red Series

Both Win Yesterday; Chicago Cubs Defeated By The Giants

BY JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer

LIKE the break of dawn, it's constantly becoming clearer that the National League pennant race isn't going to be decided until the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals come to grips in the waning hours of the season next week.

For days the two have been separated by the smallest of margins, unable to make a decisive gesture. This situation was emphasized yesterday as Bucky Walters pitched the Reds to a 3-2 victory over the Phillies and the Redbirds swarmed over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-4, to maintain their stern vigil 24 games out of first place.

Cincinnati's conquest was the 26th of the season for Walters, who sprinkled six hits and took steps toward winning his own game by getting in the way of a pitched ball in the ninth and scoring the deciding run.

St. Louis staged a couple of its most typical batting bombardments to victimize the Dodgers. After being held to three hits for five innings, and with two out in the sixth, the Cards rallied for four runs on four hits and an error. Then, when Brooklyn became threatening, they set off another five-run blast in the seventh.

Cubs Lost to Giants

The day wasn't static throughout the circuit, however, because the Chicago Cubs lost to the New York Giants, 4-2, and saw their last hope of repeating their 1938 pennant parade go glimmering. Carl Hubbell's hex put them 10 games behind the leaders with only nine left to play. This is the standing:

BIG POISON!

—by Phil Berube

Yesterday's Stars

Bucky Walters, Reds — Scattered six hits, and in ninth-inning got hit by a pitched ball to score run that beat Phillies for his 26th victory.

Carl Hubbell, Giants — His eight-hit pitching subdued Cubs without an earned run.

Frank Hayes, Athletics — Tripled in 13th and beat throw to plate on an infield grounder for winning run against Tigers.

Mel Harder, Indians — His six-hit pitching beat Senators to give Cleveland undisputed possession of third place in American league.

Bob Harris, Browns — Worked nine innings in relief, spacing four hits, to lead St. Louis to 16-inning victory over Red Sox.

George Selkirk, Yankees — Singled with bases loaded and hit homer with one on to lead attacks against White Sox.

Chicago Cardinals Drop Four Players

Chicago — Defeated twice in as many starts in the National Professional Football league, the Chicago Cardinals started reorganizing yesterday by dropping four players and signing another.

Cut adrift were Douglas Russell, a star back for six seasons, Jimmy Lawrence, a veteran back, Bill Volok, a guard, and Elwin Dunstan, a tackle.

Ripon Has Backs; Can't Find Line

Reports Only One Veteran Ready for Service In Forward Wall

Ripon — Experts who have looked over the squad report the football situation at Ripon college amounts to a case of "four sweet backs and no line."

Coaches Carl Doehling and George Lanphear continue a frustrated search for competent men to team up with Co-Captain Neil Jantz in the forward wall.

At quarter is "Swede" Krcmar of Milwaukee, a dashing, spirited field general, a hard driving runner, excellent passer and good punter. He is a junior.

The coaches look for Krcmar to be tops in the Midwest conference unless his teammate, Ken Miller of Wisconsin Rapids, steals the spotlight. Miller, a sophomore, is destined for the left halfback spot. Fast and shifty, he is called the 1939 streamlined version of a coach's dream.

"Sarge" Peters demonstrates daily that he has the brains and fighting heart of a fullback. He's a sophomore and comes from Ripon High school, as does Jack Gerrie, the blocking back. Gerrie is a junior.

Marquette Gridders Score 4 Touchdowns Against Frosh Team

Milwaukee — Marquette's football squad opened up against a rugged freshman team in a one-hour scrimmage session yesterday and pushed across four touchdowns.

At the conclusion of the drill, Coach Paddy Driscoll expressed satisfaction with improvement shown both in timing and blocking. What may be the starting eleven against Wisconsin at Madison a week from Saturday operated throughout the scrimmage. The backs were Phillips at quarter, Goodyear at right half and Richardson at left, with Rice at fullback. The line had Vosberg and Burke at ends; Brye and Busler, tackles; Braden and Kenitz, guards and Apolskis, center.

Richardson passed to Vosberg for one touchdown; Goodyear raced around end for two markers and a shovel pass from Richardson to Vosberg was good for a fourth.

Cal Thomson, veteran right wing, missed practice due to an injury but is expected to return to action shortly. Reggie Goldagelli, Tom Woods and Doug Renzel are other backs who are suffering minor injuries.

Plans Completed For 3-Day Harvest Fete at Brillion

Programs are Scheduled For Friday, Saturday and Sunday

Brillion — Business men of Brillion and the members of the chamber of commerce this week are completing plans for the three-day harvest festival which is to be held on the main street in Brillion Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The general committee in charge of the arrangements consists of B. W. Bonini, chairman; Joseph Hoffman, John Thielke, Elliot Zander and Charles Jensen. A different program has been planned for each day of the festival beginning at 1:30 Friday afternoon with the appearance of the Brillion City band. A loud speaking system will be installed on the street over which the day's activities will be announced.

Members of the Brillion Order of the Anna Rebekeah lodge and their husbands observed the eighty-eighth anniversary of the Rebekeah Order at a social meeting at the I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday evening. The evening's program began with a 7:30 chicken dinner after which cards and buncos were played. The awards at schafskopf were received by Henry Schaub and Peter Hansen and Mrs. Henry Schaub.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Arthur Redloff, Mrs. Peter Hansen and Miss Harriet Andrews.

A social meeting of the Arno Bloodorn post of the American Legion was held at the Legion hall Monday evening. Sixth District Commander John Meyer, District Adjutant Leo Madison and Legionaries Kueher and Koepke, all of Neenah, were present.

As a part of the program, Lyle Becker gave a report of his activities while attending the Badger Boy's State at Delafield this summer. The Brillion American Legion post and the Brillion Lions club sponsored Lyle's attendance at the camp. After the program a lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lindner entertained relatives at their home Tuesday evening in honor of the former's birthday anniversary. Cards were played after which lunch was served to the Messrs. and Mesdames Percy Lindner, J. J. Lindner, Oscar Belke and family, Otto Barth and daughter Lola Mae and Edward Tschantz and family, all of Brillion, and Mrs. Katherine O'Connell and son Edward and Mrs. Esther Pelske of Neenah.

Mrs. Fred Thurow submitted to an operation at the St. Vincent hospital at Green Bay Tuesday.

Earl Lintner entertained relatives at his home on Sunday evening in honor of his birthday anniversary. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steinbach and family of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lintner and family of Chilton and Oscar Lintner of Milwaukee.

Arlice Mathieba entertained ten friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mathieba, on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her birthday anniversary. Games were enjoyed after which a supper was served.

Mrs. Edgar Mueller was hostess to the members of her bridge club at her home on Tuesday evening. High honors were received by Mrs. Raymond Peters and Mrs. W. A. Holmes received the floater.

Mrs. Helen Jooss was hostess to the members of her five hundred club at her home Monday evening.

Mrs. Lloyd Wordell was hostess to the members of her bridge club at her home on Tuesday afternoon. High honors were received by Mrs. Percy Lindner and Mrs. Oscar Belke and Mrs. LeRoy Klein received the floater.

Highway Committee Will Present Recommendations to Supervisors

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh—A highway program involving about $188,000 was approved by the Winnebago county highway committee at a meeting held here yesterday.

To be recommended to the county board, the highway improvement program provides for many changes in the highway system of this county.

State trunk 47, between Menasha and the county line just south of Appleton, is to be resurfaced with blacktop. A part of 47 extending into the city of Menasha on the north end is also to be resurfaced from the city limits to the railroad tracks, a distance of several blocks.

Highway 21, west of Oshkosh to Omro, will be resurfaced for a distance of two and a half miles. Two curves will be eliminated.

The present Highway 41 will be widened and resurfaced for a stretch of two miles near Gillingham's corner.

$250,000 For Oshkosh

The much debated problem of the county aiding in the paving of Jackson drive in the city of Oshkosh has been provided in the program. $25,000 has been earmarked for this improvement, provided the city of Oshkosh obtain the placing of this street on the state trunk connecting street system.

All of this will come out of the $124,000 which the state will turn over to this county next year for county highway work. In addition to this, the county has a balance of about $64,000 left in the present budget, earmarked for highway improvement.

To Buy Right-Of-Way

Not all of the funds will be needed for the above projects. The committee has marked the balance to be used in the purchase of right-of-way for the newly relocated Highway 41, the "super" highway location which was approved by the Winnebago county board last year. The area designated by the committee begins at a point directly west of Oshkosh, at Highway 21 and thence northeast to Neenah. Nothing has been said or done about the southern half of the relocation, members of the committee stating that they are anxious to complete the stretch nearest the Neenah-Menasha end.

The plan and program will be submitted to the board for action in the November session.

2 Youth Programs Explained to Club

Rotary Speakers Describe Badger Boys State, Scout Work

Menasha—Two youth programs, Boy Scouts of America and the Badger Boys State, were explained at the Wednesday noon luncheon meeting of the Menasha Rotary club at Hotel Menasha.

The Boys State program was explained by H. L. Sherman, adjutant of Henry J. Lenz post of the American Legion who served as a counselor at the camp at St. John's Military academy, Delafield, Wis., this summer. The Badger Boys State was sponsored by the American Legion of Wisconsin as a course in citizenship combined with a summer camp.

Activities of the Boy Scouts of America were explained by Ralph Suess who has been active in scouting for many years. Suess is a cub commissioner of the valley council of scouts and also is a member of the troop committee of Troop 9, which is sponsored by the Menasha Wooden Ware.

After the adults had explained the two organizations, two participants in the programs gave their views of the activities. Kenneth Wolff, co-captain of the Menasha High school football team, described life at Badger Boys state. Wolff was one of four Menasha boys who attended the camp this summer under the sponsorship of the American Legion post, the Menasha Lions club, and the Rev. J. A. Becker, principal of St. Mary High school.

Ralph Suess, Jr., described scouting activities, particularly at the valley council summer camp at Gardner dam. He is a member of Troop 9 and has been active at the council camp and the council camporees.

Neenah Classes Will Name Officers Friday

Neenah—Election of class officers at Neenah High school will be held Friday, according to Principal J. H. Holzman. The deadline for filing nomination papers for the various offices is today.

The civics classes, under the direction of Harvey Leaman, will conduct the elections.

County Dairymen to Hold Annual Meeting

Neenah—The Winnebago County Dairy Herd Improvement association No. 1 will hold its annual meeting at 8 o'clock Friday night at the office of R. C. Heffernan, agricultural agent in the courthouse at Oshkosh. Officers will be elected and the annual bull sale Oct. 19 will be discussed.

Automobile and Fence Damaged in Accident

Neenah—An automobile driven by Willard Hayes, Plummer avenue, Neenah, was damaged when it struck a fence post at the southwest corner of N. North Water street and N. Commercial street at 7:45 this morning. Neenah police reported. The front left side of the car and the fence were damaged.

Be A Careful Driver

Neenah—Mrs. Alice Jamieson, Winnebago county probation officer, talked on "Child Delinquency" at the noon meeting of the Neenah Kiwanis club Wednesday at the Valley Inn.

Mrs. Jamieson described the work being done in her department and related several interesting case histories of child delinquency.

GERMAN SUBMARINE HALTS AMERICAN FREIGHTER

Hire Additional Neenah Teacher

Engage Platteville Man to Alleviate Overcrowded Classes

Neenah—Edgar F. Riley, Jr., Platteville, was hired as an additional instructor in Neenah High school by the teachers committee of the board of education at a special meeting last night at the high school. Superintendent C. F. Hedges reported today. The board had authorized employment of an additional instructor to take care of the overflow of students.

Riley will teach general and senior science, beginning Monday, Sept. 25. He is the eleventh new instructor to be hired by the board for the Neenah public school system this term, but he is the first additional teacher, the others having filled vacancies created by resignations.

Riley is the son of E. F. Riley, director of training at the Platteville State Teachers college. He was graduated from the Platteville State Teachers college and the University of Wisconsin. He has done work on his master degree at the state university, majoring in science and mathematics.

While at Platteville college, he was a member of the band and orchestra and he was a member of the Wisconsin university band.

Neenah Woman Gets German Propaganda

Neenah—Today when people of the United States are pointing out the propaganda finger at every country, every news dispatch and every radio announcer, one is not surprised to have propaganda arrive from across the sea in his mailbox. Mrs. W. Z. Stuart, Wisconsin avenue, wasn't surprised but she was puzzled and somewhat bewildered as to how someone in Hamburg, Germany, would know her name, her street address and even the number of her home. The address on the reverse of the envelope reads "Hamburg 36, Hamburger Hof, Zimmer 508."

The enclosed propaganda was a press statement alleged to have been made by Oscar C. Pfau in Chicago. The article is against the English and Jewish peoples.

Two St. Mary School Groups Name Leaders

Menasha—Two St. Mary High school organizations have named officers and committee chairmen for the 1939-40 school term as organization meetings were held this week.

Julianne Muntner heads the Cecilia Singers of the school with Dorothy Sauter as secretary.

Charles Schaller was named Eucharistic chairman of the high school Sodality with Mary Helen Landgraf as chairman of Our Lady's committee. Mary Ann Eckrich of the apostolic committee, Ray Polozinski of literature, Dorothy Sauter of membership and Agnes Schneider of publicity. Jeanette Schmidt is prefect, Louis Krautkramer, vice prefect, Sophia Wipich, secretary, and Dorothy Reimer, treasurer.

Lakeview League to Open Season Tonight

Neenah—The Lakeview Mill Men's Bowling league, a new circuit which recently was organized, opens its season Thursday evening at the Muench alleys.

Elmer Quayle has been elected president of the circuit, and Art Homblatte, vice president and Paul Peeters, secretary-treasurer.

The league teams and captains are as follows: Maintenance, E. Pauer; Supervisors, A. Kalkoski; Manufacturing, G. Koller; Machines, W. Steiner; Delseys, W. Buss; Kotex, W. Neabbling; Kleenex, D. Schmetzer; Paper Mill, G. Selig; Engineers, J. Last, and Warehouse, E. Tansk.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Newcomb was presented with a gift by her friends.

Plans for a harvest supper, the date for which will be announced within the week, were discussed at the first fall meeting of the Women's Union in Whiting Memorial Baptist church Wednesday afternoon. About 26 members attended the work meeting. A social hour followed.

Final plans for the district convention Oct. 4 were outlined at the Neenah Woman's Relief corps Wednesday afternoon meeting in S. A. Cook armory. During the social hour, Mrs. Anna Kresse was honored in observance of her fifty-fifth wedding anniversary. A mock wedding featured entertainment with Mrs. Martha Eberlein in the role of the bride, Mrs. Caroline Bengman as the bridegroom, Mrs. Jean Herrick and Mrs. Cecil Krecker as bridesmaids. Mrs. Lillian Godhardt was flower girl. Mrs. Annabelle Suess acted as the parson and Mrs. Emma Cytinus sang "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Lillian Campbell played the wedding march. Other September wedding anniversary observers were Mrs. Jennie Bain, Mrs. Cecelia Larsen, Mrs. Mary Sheerin, Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. Hanna Peterson, Mrs. Freda Herpin and Mrs. Emma Kamp.

Mrs. Johnson was in charge of arrangements for the social hour.

Twenty-two members of the Women's Missionary society of First Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. A. W. Johnson, E. Doty avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Plans for the year were outlined. Mrs. Ernest Rhoades led the lesson discussion on "China" and devotions were conducted by Mrs. Arthur McLeod. Several guests attended.

Mrs. Clyde Anderson, S. Lake street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening in honor of her sister, Mrs. H. K. Rogers, formerly Miss Florence Pansy, at the latter's home at 219 E. Wisconsin avenue. Mrs. Rogers was married June 10. Cards were played during the social hour with honors awarded Miss Mary Nussbaum and Miss Ruth Heller. Guest prize went to Miss Elsie Rempiert.

Pythian Sisters, Valley Temple, will meet at 7:30 Friday evening in the school hall. A social will follow the meeting.

Friend's Club of First Presbyterian church will hold its initial fall meeting following a 6:15 supper Friday evening at the church. The Rev. W. R. Courtenay, pastor, will be guest speaker.

Neenah chapter, Woman's Relief corps, will meet Thursday, Sept. 28, in the Neenah-Menasha Y.W.C.A. instead of Friday, Sept. 22, the usual meeting date. Plans for the county convention will be discussed.

Rockets to Face Messmer Team in Season's Opener

Heavy Milwaukee Squad Will Invade Neenah Gridiron Saturday

Neenah—Neenah High school football eleven at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon will oppose a heavy Messmer High school grid squad, Milwaukee, to open its 1939 football season on the local gridiron.

It will be the Milwaukee team's second game so far this season, Messmer having defeated Whitefish Bay, 2 to 0, last Friday night. The Messmer outfit scored a safety in the early part of the game.

The Rockets held their final scrimmage Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the opening conflict, and Coach George Christoph spent considerable time trying to smooth the running attack as well as defensive play. The coach will not select a probable starting line-up until Friday.

Two line ends will flank the heavy line of the Messmer aggregation. One, reported to be the eleven's star player, is Ray Kufel, who is 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 190 pounds, while the other, Kenneth Heinz, is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 205 pounds.

Starting Lineup

The officials who will handle the game are Schneider and Nussbaum, Oshkosh, and Hesselton, Appleton. The Rockets don't open their Northeastern Wisconsin conference season until the following Saturday afternoon when they play Kaukauna on the latter's gridiron.

Little Theater for Youngsters Will be Formed at Library

Menasha—Plans for the formation of a "little theater" group for children between the ages of 10 and 12 years have been made by Miss Jane Chandler of the staff of Elisha D. Smith public library and Miss Irene Harney of the public school faculty.

The first meeting of the group will be at 10:30 Saturday morning at Elisha D. Smith public library. All boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 12 years who are interested in dramatics are asked to meet at the library Saturday morning to help organize a little theater group.

Plays will be studied and staged and the writing of original plays will be developed. The group will meet once a week during the school year under the direction of Miss Chandler and Miss Harney.

Each boy and girl will be given an opportunity to appear in a play as well as to assist in staging plays. Work in costume and scenery designing also will be developed during the year.

Church Leaders Meet With New Minister

Neenah—Thirty-five officers of organizations affiliated with the First Methodist church attended a meeting of the official board last evening at the church. The purpose of the meeting was to enable the new pastor, the Rev. William A. Riggs, formerly of Lake Mills, to get acquainted with the officers as well as church functions. The Rev. Mr. Riggs preached his first sermon at the church last Sunday.

Girl Scout Mother and Father Dinner to be Held in November

Menasha—Plans for a Girl Scout mother and father banquet early in November in observance of the first anniversary of Troop 1 were discussed by members of the troop committee and Miss Lucille Rusch, troop captain, Wednesday afternoon in St. Thomas Episcopal church parish house. The members of Boy Scout Troop 3 will prepare and serve the banquet and the girls will reciprocate when the boys have their annual banquet. A program demonstrating the accomplishments of Troop 1 will feature the banquet. Plans to raise funds through sale of Christmas cards by the Girl Scouts was discussed. There will be no house to house canvass. The plan was submitted by national headquarters. The troop committee will meet again within two weeks. Miss Rusch will present reports at that meeting. Mrs. Charles Bailer, Mrs. S. L. Spengler, Mrs. R. G. White and the Rev. A. A. Chambers attended Wednesday's meeting.

B. B. B. sorority of First Congregational church will meet at 7:30 Friday evening in the social room of the church.

Catholic Women's Benevolent society of St. Mary's parish will meet at 7:30 Friday evening with Mrs. Fred Daigler, Second street.

Patrol leaders of Girl Scout Troop 1, sponsored by St. Thomas Episcopal church, and the troop captain, Miss Lucille Rusch, have completed plans for the overnight hike to the Girl Scout cabin on Lake Winnebago this weekend. The troop will leave the St. Thomas parish house at noon Saturday and return Sunday evening. At re-registration

During these years also the building up of vast armies, navies and shore defenses of war has proceeded apace with growing speed and intensity. But during these years, and extending back even to the days of the Kellogg-Briand pact, the United States has constantly, consistently and conscientiously done all in its power to encourage peaceful settlements, to bring about reduction of armaments and to avert threatened wars. We have done this not only because any war anywhere necessarily hurts American security and American prosperity, but because of the more important fact that any war anywhere retards the progress of morality and religion and impairs the security of civilization itself.

For many years the primary purpose of our foreign policy has been that this nation and this government should strive to the utmost to aid in avoiding war among other nations. But if and when war unhappily comes, the government and the nation must exert every possible effort to avoid being drawn into the war.

The executive branch of the government did its utmost within our traditional policy of non-involvement, to aid in averting the present appalling war. Having thus striven and failed, this government must lose no time or effort to keep the nation from being drawn into the war.

In my candid judgment we shall succeed in these efforts. We are proud of the historical record of the United States and of all the Americans during all these years because we have thrown every ounce of our influence for peace into the scale of peace.

I note in passing what you will all remember—the long debates on the subject of what constitutes aggression, on the methods of determining who the aggressor might be, and, on who the aggressor in past wars had been. Academically this may have been instructive as it may have been of interest to historians to discuss the pros and cons and the rights and wrongs of the world war during the decade that followed it.

But in the light of problems of today and tomorrow responsibility for acts of aggression is not concealed, and the writing of the record can safely be left to future historians.

There has been sufficient realism in the United States to see how close to our own shores came dangerous paths which were being followed on other continents.

Last January I told the congress that "a war which threatened to envelop the world in flames has been averted, but it has become increasingly clear that peace is not assured." By April new tensions had developed: a new crisis was in the making. Several nations with whom we had friendly, diplomatic and commercial relations had lost, or were in the process of losing, their independent identity and sovereignty.

During the spring and summer the trend was definitely toward further acts of military conquest and away from peace. As late as the end of July I spoke to members of the congress about the definite possibility of war. I should have called it the probability of war.

Last January, also, I spoke to this congress of the need for further warning of new threats of conquest, military and economic; of challenge to religion, to democracy and to international good faith. I said: "An ordering of society which relegates religion, democracy and good faith among nations to the background can find no place within it for the ideals of the Prince of Peace. The United States rejects such an ordering and retains its ancient faith."

"We know what might happen to us of the United States if the new philosophy of force were to encompass the other continents and invade our own. We, no more than other nations, can afford to be surrounded by the enemies of our faith and our humanity. Fortunately it is, therefore, that in this western hemisphere we have, under a common ideal of democratic government, a rich diversity of resources and of peoples functioning together in mutual respect and peace."

Last January, in the same message, I also said: "We have learned that when we deliberately try to legislate neutrality, our neutrality laws may operate unevenly and unfairly—may actually give aid to an aggressor, and deny it to the victim. The instinct of self-preservation should warn us that we ought not to let that happen any more."

It was because of what I foresaw last January from watching the trend of foreign affairs and their probable effect upon us that I recommended to the congress in July of this year that changes be enacted in our neutrality law.

The essentials for American peace in the world have not changed since January. That is why I ask you again to re-examine our own legislation.

Beginning with the foundation of our constitutional government in the year 1789, the American policy in respect to belligerent nations, with one notable exception, has been based on international law. Be it remembered that what we call international law has had as its primary objectives the avoidance of causes of war and the prevention of the extension of war.

The single exception was the policy adopted by this nation during the Napoleonic wars, when, seeking to avoid involvement, we acted for some years under the so-called embargo and non-intercourse acts. That policy turned out to be a disastrous failure—first, because it brought our own nation close to ruin, and, secondly, because it was the major cause of bringing us into active participation in European wars in our own War of 1812. It is merely redacting history to recall to you that one of the results of the policy of embargo and non-intercourse was the burning in 1814 of part of this capital in which we are assembled.

Our own deviation by statute from the sound principles of neutrality and peace through international law did not come for one hundred and thirty years. It was the so-called neutrality act of 1935—only four years ago—an act continued in force by the joint resolution of May 1, 1937, despite grave doubts expressed as to its wisdom by many senators and representatives and by officials charged with the conduct of our foreign relations, including myself. I regret that the congress passed the act. I regret equally that I signed that act.

On July fourteenth of this year, I asked the congress in the cause of peace and in the interest of real American neutrality and security to take action to change that act. "Dangerous to Peace"

I now ask again that such action be taken in respect to that part of the act which is wholly inconsistent with ancient precepts of the law of nations—the embargo provisions. I ask it because they are, in my opinion, most vitally dangerous to American neutrality. American security and American peace.

These embargo provisions, as they exist today, prevent the sale to a belligerent by an American factory of any completed implements of war but they allow the sale of many types of uncompleted implements of war, as well as all kinds of general material and supplies. They, furthermore, allow such products of industry and agriculture to be taken in American flag ships to belligerent nations. There is itself under the present law—its definite danger to our neutrality and our peace.

From a purely material point of view what is the advantage to us in sending all manner of articles across the ocean for final processing there when we could give employment to thousands by doing it here? Industrially, and again from such material point of view, by such employment we automatically aid our own national defense. And if abnormal profits appear in our midst even in time of peace, as a result of this increase of industry, I feel certain that the subject will be adequately dealt with at the coming regular session of the congress.

Let me set forth the present paradox of the existing legislation in its simplest terms: If, prior to 1935, a general war had broken out in Europe, the United States would have sold to and bought from belligerent nations such goods and products of all kinds as the belligerent nations with their existing facilities and geographical situations, were able to buy from us or sell to us. This would have been the normal practice under the age-old doctrines of international law. Our prior position accepted the facts of geography and of conditions of land power and sea power alike as they existed in all parts of the world.

If a war in Europe had broken out prior to 1935, there would have been no difference, for example, between our exports of sheets of aluminum and airplane wings; today there is an artificial legal difference. Before 1935 there would have been no difference between the export of cotton and the export of gun cotton. Today there is. Before 1935 there would have been no difference between the shipment of brass tubing in pipe form and brass tubing in shell form. Today there is. Before 1935 there would have been no difference between the export of a motor truck and an armored motor truck. Today there is.

Let us be factual and recognize that a belligerent nation often needs wheat and lard and cotton for the survival of its population just as much as it needs anti-aircraft guns and anti-submarine depth-charges. Let those who seek to retain the present embargo position be wholly consistent and seek new legislation to cut off cloth and copper and meat and wheat and a thousand other articles from all of the nations at war.

Traditional Policy
I seek a greater consistency through the repeal of the embargo provisions, and a return to international law. I seek re-enactment of the historic and traditional American policy which, except for the disastrous interlude of the embargo and non-intercourse acts, has served us well for nearly a century and a half.

It has been erroneously said that return to that policy might bring us nearer to war. I give to you my deep and unalterable conviction, based on years of experience as a worker in the field of international peace, that by the repeal of the embargo the United States will more probably remain at peace than if the law remains as it stands today. I say this because with the repeal of the embargo this government clearly and definitely will insist that American citizens and American ships keep away from the immediate perils of the actual zones of conflict.

Repeal of the embargo and a return to international law are the crux of this issue.

The enactment of the embargo provisions did more than merely reverse our traditional policy. It had the effect of putting land powers on the same footing as naval powers, so far as sea-borne commerce was concerned. A land power which threatened war could thus feel assured in advance that any prospective sea-power antagonist would be weakened through denial of its ancient right to buy anything anywhere. This four years ago, gave a definite advantage to one belligerent as against another, not through his own strength or geographic position, but through an affirmative act of ours. Removal of the embargo is merely reverting to the sounder international practice and pursuing in time of war as in time of peace our ordinary trade policies. "This will be liked by some and disliked by others, depending on the view they take of the present war, but that is not the issue. The step I recommend is to put this country back on the solid footing of real and traditional neutrality."

When and if repeal of the embargo is accomplished, certain other phases of policy reinforcing American safety should be considered. While nearly all of us are in agreement on their objectives, the only question relates to method.

I believe that American merchant vessels should, so far as possible, be restricted from entering danger zones. War zones may change so swiftly and so frequently in the days to come, that it is impossible to fix them permanently by act of congress; specific legislation may prevent adjustment to constant and quick change. It seems, therefore, more practical to delimit them through action of the state department and administrative agencies.

The objective of restricting American ships from entering such zones may be attained by prohibiting such entry by the congress; or the result can be substantially achieved by executive proclamation that all such voyages are solely at the risk of the American owners themselves.

The second objective is to prevent American citizens from traveling on belligerent vessels, or in danger areas. This can also be accomplished either by legislation, through continuance in force of certain provisions of existing law, or by proclamation making it clear to all Americans that any such travel is at their own risk.

The third objective, requiring the foreign buyer to take transit of goods to this country to commodities purchased by belligerents, is also a result which can be attained by legislation or substantially achieved through due notice by proclamation.

The fourth objective is the preventing of war credits to belligerents. This can be accomplished by making it clear that if credits are granted by American citizens to belligerents our government will take no steps in the future to relieve them of risk or loss. The result of these last two will be to require all purchases to be made in cash and cargoes to be carried in the purchasers' own ships, at the purchasers' own risk.

Two other objectives have been amply attained by existing law, namely, regulating collection of funds in this country for belligerents, and the maintenance of a license system covering import and export of arms, ammunition and implements of war. Under present enactments, such arms can not be carried to belligerent countries on American vessels, and this provision should not be disturbed.

The congress, of course, should make its own choice of the method by which these safeguards are to be attained, so long as the method chosen will meet the needs of new and changing day to day situations and dangers.

To those who say that this program would involve a step toward war on our part, I reply that it offers far greater safeguards than we now possess or have ever possessed to protect American lives and property from danger. It is a positive program for giving safety. This means less likelihood of incidents and controversies which tend to draw us into conflict, as they did in the last world war. There lies the road to peace!

The position of the executive branch of the government is that the age-old and time-honored doctrine of international law, coupled with these positive safeguards, is better calculated than any other means to keep us out of this war.

Cites Proclamation
In respect to our own defense, you are aware that I have issued a proclamation setting forth "a national emergency in connection with the observance, safeguarding, and enforcement of neutrality and the strengthening of the national defense within the limits of peace-time authorizations." This was done solely to make wholly constitutional and legal certain obviously necessary measures. I have authorized increases in the personnel of the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard, which will bring all four to a total still below peace-time strength as authorized by the congress.

I have authorized the state department to use, for the repatriation of Americans caught in the war zone, $500,000 already authorized by the congress.

I have authorized the addition of one hundred and fifty persons to the department of justice to be used in the protection of the United States against subversive foreign activities within our borders.

At this time I ask for no other authority from the congress. At this time I see no need for further executive action under the proclamation of limited national emergency.

Therefore, I see no valid reason for the consideration of other legislation.

KEEP WOOLENS SOFT

with new hard-water suds. Won't form soap-scum to coarsen texture!

See woolens and underwear regain bride-like freshness and color! Colored prints sing with radiant sparkle! See stockings keep their delicate sheerness and fresh color. Results are startling because science has found a way to make a wonderful new suds, called Vel, that won't form ruinous soap-scum, even in hardest water. You can feel this slippery, slimy suds in soap suds. But these amazing new Vel suds feel soft and pure. That's because Vel is not a soap. It's a special new hard-water suds perfected by Colgate. It makes as much as 5 times more suds than expensive soap flakes in hardest water. And it makes hardest water act soft as rainwater. You can see why Vel is better than soap flakes for fine fabrics, because Vel does not form a ring of soap-scum around the bowl. That proves Vel can't leave ruinous soap-scum in your stockings, underwear and woolens, to spoil texture and cause that "cottony" look. The most thrilling proof is the radiant freshness, the soft newness, and lovelier color of ANYTHING you wash in Vel. So easy on hands, too, because Vel suds contain no acid, no alkali to irritate the skin. Buy Vel today at grocers. Made and guaranteed by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

I have authorized the addition of one hundred and fifty persons to the department of justice to be used in the protection of the United States against subversive foreign activities within our borders.

At this time I ask for no other authority from the congress. At this time I see no need for further executive action under the proclamation of limited national emergency.

Therefore, I see no valid reason for the consideration of other legislation.

Present Law Helps
Two other objectives have been amply attained by existing law, namely, regulating collection of funds in this country for belligerents, and the maintenance of a license system covering import and export of arms, ammunition and implements of war. Under present enactments, such arms can not be carried to belligerent countries on American vessels, and this provision should not be disturbed.

The congress, of course, should make its own choice of the method by which these safeguards are to be attained, so long as the method chosen will meet the needs of new and changing day to day situations and dangers.

To those who say that this program would involve a step toward war on our part, I reply that it offers far greater safeguards than we now possess or have ever possessed to protect American lives and property from danger. It is a positive program for giving safety. This means less likelihood of incidents and controversies which tend to draw us into conflict, as they did in the last world war. There lies the road to peace!

The position of the executive branch of the government is that the age-old and time-honored doctrine of international law, coupled with these positive safeguards, is better calculated than any other means to keep us out of this war.

Cites Proclamation
In respect to our own defense, you are aware that I have issued a proclamation setting forth "a national emergency in connection with the observance, safeguarding, and enforcement of neutrality and the strengthening of the national defense within the limits of peace-time authorizations." This was done solely to make wholly constitutional and legal certain obviously necessary measures. I have authorized increases in the personnel of the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard, which will bring all four to a total still below peace-time strength as authorized by the congress.

I have authorized the state department to use, for the repatriation of Americans caught in the war zone, $500,000 already authorized by the congress.

I have authorized the addition of one hundred and fifty persons to the department of justice to be used in the protection of the United States against subversive foreign activities within our borders.

Rebekahs at Chilton Have Celebration on Lodge Anniversary

Chilton—Morning Star Rebekah lodge of Chilton celebrated the eighty-eighth anniversary of its organization at the Odd Fellows hall Monday evening. G. M. Morrissey, retired high school superintendent, chief speaker of the evening, discussed citizenship. He was introduced by Ted Steudel, Jr., chairman of the evening. Mr. Steudel also introduced Mrs. Joseph Frick, who gave a history of the order, and Mrs. Minnie Kingston, who gave a short recitation. The program closed with a song by the audience. The members then proceeded to the kitchen where dinner was served.

Committees for the celebration were: Program—Leona Dhein, Max and Ted Steudel; refreshments—Viola Golmgsky and Bertha Bossard.

The following committees have also been appointed for the remainder of the year: Entertainment—Leona Dhein, Minnie Kingston, Tillie Woeckner, Leone Doolan, Ted Steudel; ways and means—Olga Voigt, Alice Larson, Erna Hingiss, Charlotte Schneiss.

The Rebekahs will sponsor a movie at the local theater in October.

Here are the 5 benefits you want in a between-meal food for children

1. Taste appeal. NBC Graham's are so delicious, youngsters choose them on their own. Just sweet enough...delightfully crunchy.
2. Digestibility. You'll find NBC Graham's digest so easily they don't spoil children's normal appetites for regular meals.
3. Wholesomeness. These famous crackers are an energy-helping food needed by growing children.
4. Quality you can trust. The NBC Seal on the Graham Cracker package is your assurance of high quality. Only fine ingredients are used. Protected in triple-wrapped packages.
5. Time and work saving. Keep NBC Graham's in a handy place and tell the children to "help themselves." A "delicious food for adults, too!"

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK
Boy! What a treat! Flavorful NBC Graham's crumbled in a bowl of milk. Make this "work-less" satisfying dish a regular for light suppers and lunches.

Products of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY.

If your dessert seems skimpy—dress it up with delectable SOCIAL TEA BISCUITS. Milk, eggs and fine shortening make this favorite as delicious as the best homemade cookies.

Joan Stebbins Named Leader of Girl Scouts At Meeting at Marion

Marion — The Girl Scouts have been reorganized and they held their first meeting last week. Miss Joan Stebbins is their leader and discussed many things about scouting. Miss Elmer talked to the girls on trail-blazing. The meeting ended with a marshmallow roast and the singing of songs.

The student council of the high school has elected the following officers: Harriet Lacy, president; Joyce Schroeder, secretary; Dean Arndt, vice president. Several members of the council spoke before the assembly for the benefit of the new students, explaining the purpose of the student activity fund.

Mrs. Henry Uttomark was taken to a Green Bay hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. R. M. Lambeth of Milwaukee arrived Monday to spend two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. George Voelz and family of Wittenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Voelz and son of Bowler, spent Sunday at the Herman Hacker home.

Carlton Miller of Milwaukee spent the weekend with his parents.

Gladys Goodstorf returned to Chicago Sunday after spending a week with her mother, Mrs. Emma Goodstorf.

The high school band held its organization meeting last week, and elected the following officers: Harriet Lacy, president; Dean Arndt, vice president; Eleanor Danke, secretary; Rosemary Daley, librarian; Raymond Brockhaus, manager, and S.A.F. council representative.

Band Director Elmer Enz promoted a number of musicians from the junior to the senior band. In this group are six clarinets, five cornets, an alto saxophone and an oboe, which will take the places of those who graduated this spring.

OVERHEARD AT TREASURE ISLAND:

"I never realized the importance of washing green coffee"

Every day coffee-lovers through Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre at Treasure Island, Golden Gate International Exposition, to see "Behind the Cup," a sound picture in Cinecolor

"I MAKE PERFECT COFFEE WITH The Correct Grind"

"My experience with The Correct Grind has convinced me it produces perfect coffee in any type of coffee-maker. I just follow the directions carefully. And I never regretted 'The Correct Grind.' I'd lose flavor, aroma, and freshness."

IMPORTANT: Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired. Keep coffee-maker clean.

DRIP METHOD: 6 to 8 minutes preferred. If less than 2 cups capacity is made, water will drip too fast giving weak brew.

GLASS VACUUM MAKERS: Put upper bowl on after water boils. Coffee and water should be in contact 5 to 7 minutes.

PERCOLATOR: Start with cold or hot water. "Perco" to 10 minutes after steady pumping starts.

COFFEEPOT: Bring coffee and water to boiling. Stir well. Add small amount of cold water and let stand 5 minutes to settle grounds.

SLEEPING: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well. Sit again in 5 minutes. Steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

"I NEVER REALIZED THE IMPORTANCE OF WASHING GREEN COFFEE," is the comment of many guests at Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre. Careful washing of green coffee is of vital importance to coffee quality as well as an ideal method of removing the jelly-like substance that completely surrounds each bean. Exacting care like this is in evidence throughout the entire production of Hills Bros. Coffee. Those who use it say, "Now that's what I call good coffee!"

RISE AND FALL OF BABYLON
IV—The Goddess Ishtar
Children of the ancient city of Babylon were told many stories. One rather interesting one was about the goddess Ishtar. Here is a short account of it:
"One day Ishtar, the daughter of the moon-god, thought of going to the underworld, the House of Shadows, where her cruel sister ruled as queen.

The goddess Ishtar.
"To the House of Shadows she went, to the place from which no one can come back. They have no light there and live in darkness. They are clothed like birds."
"On reaching the gate, Ishtar called, 'Ho! Gate-keeper! Open thy gate. If you don't open, I will break the door. I will wrench the locks. I will smash the door-posts!'"
"The gate-keeper opened his mouth and said, 'Stop, oh lady, do not destroy the door. I will tell the queen you are here!'"
"When the sister heard of Ishtar's visit, she was angry, but said, 'Go, gate-keeper, and open thy gate for her!'"
"The gate-keeper opened wide the gate, but took the large crown from Ishtar's head. Later he led her through other gates, taking away some of her ornaments each time she let her through. He explained that he did so because of orders from his queen."

"Before long, Ishtar grew sorry she had come to the House of Shadows, but no matter how hard she begged, her sister would not let her leave."
"Meanwhile, the moon-god learned where his daughter had gone, and worried about her. He sent a messenger to the House of Shadows, with a command that she be set free. The queen of the underworld did not like to let Ishtar go, but followed the command. The goddess was sprinkled with the waters of life, and was taken out."
"We call such tales 'myths,' and that is what they are, but we must remember they were part of the religion of the people who told them. It was the same with the myths of the Greeks and Romans. The myths of Babylon were told perhaps a thousand years before the ancient Greeks wrote down their tales. It is quite likely that the Greeks 'borrowed' a number of Babylon's gods and goddesses, but changed their names. Sometimes Ishtar was spoken of as showing her face in the shining of the bright planet which we know as Venus. Ishtar's main duty was supposed to be to watch over the crops. The story of her going down to the House of Shadows is believed to have been an effort to explain why the plant life of the earth dies when winter comes."

Total Cost of Kimberly Project to be Approximately $155,000

Kimberly—The sewage disposal plant now under construction along the south bank of the river between Kimberly and Little Chute mills, is well underway and is expected to be completed about Nov. 1. The sewer works project will be finished about Oct. 17.

The total cost of the project is approximately $155,000, of which 45 per cent or $70,000 will be paid by PWA grant. The sanitary and storm sewers will cost $62,000, which includes the water works project and water mains. The cost of the plant will amount to about $80,000. Cost of the pump house and well is estimated at $11,000.

The building is to be constructed of rough face brick and will house all the necessary equipment for the operation of a modern sewage treatment plant. It will include heating, electrical, laboratory, pumps and motors and chemical equipment. Connected with the plant will be sanitary and storm sewers with the additional water mains. Digging and laying is near completion.

C. J. Fleweger, new post commander of the Wm. Verhagen post of the American Legion, took over his duties at the first fall meeting at the clubhouse Tuesday evening. Kimberly American Legion officers along with other county officers were installed Aug. 31 at Seymour. Other local officers are Matt Busch, vice commander; George Hanawitz, adjutant; T. Van Zumbro, secretary; J. J. B. J. Ouellette, finance officer; Theodore Van Elsen, historian; Ray Behling, service officer, and Mike Lockschmidt, chaplain.

David Smith, son of Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Smith, who attended Badger Boys State at St. John Military academy at Delafield, sponsored by the legion this summer, gave a description of the week's activities while at camp.

Gust Loose Honored At Birthday Party At Hilbert Dwelling

Hilbert — The following were guests at the Gust Loose home Tuesday evening where they gathered in honor of Mrs. Loose's birthday anniversary: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lautenschlager and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brandes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lautenschlager, Henry Loose, Mr. and Mrs. William Hackbarth and family, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Scieley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Loose and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Strebing, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Koch and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwaberg and son, Milton Loose, Norbert Loose, Albert Lebefer. Cards were played and refreshments were served.

The Misses Regina Ruhland of Hilbert and Adela Ruhland of Fredonia left Tuesday for Kentucky and a week of sight-seeing. They expect to visit Mammoth Cave.

Church services will be conducted Sunday evening at the village hall beginning at 7:30 by the Rev. J. M. Ayers.

The Steve Summers Junior club will hold a meeting Thursday evening at the high school.

The Lutheran Study club was entertained Monday afternoon at the Lutheran parsonage. Among those present were the Rev. and Mrs. L. Are Lallemant, Wayside; the Rev. and Mrs. C. Struck, Marbel; the Rev. W. Valesky, Greenleaf; the Rev. and Mrs. L. Spiker, Glenbeulah, and the Rev. and Mrs. G. Barthel, Rantoul.

Math Nilles, Sr., left here this week in company with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nilles of Kiel for a two weeks' trip to Akron, Ohio, and Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Rose Gage accompanied her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. L. Beard, to Antigo this week on their return to their home after a weekend visit here with relatives.

Miss Irene Peterson of St. Paul, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. George Dickof of Marshfield were guests this week at the Mike Keese home. Mike Vollmer's name was drawn Tuesday by the clerk of circuit court to serve as petit juror from Hilbert, for the October term.

Jerry Hintz has been employed by the Carsten Milling company. James and Buddy Fiedler, who spent a week with their grandmother, Mrs. Rose Hostettler of Stockbridge, and other relatives left Monday for their home at Stanford.

A daughter was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Parsons of Stockbridge.

Stockbridge students who left recently for colleges and academies are James Flatley left for Mt. Calvary to enter the academy; Maurus Schumacher re-entered St. Norbert college at De Pere to continue his studies.

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—On a little Hollywood café is a huge black-lettered sign, "Food the Stars Eat." I never pass it without reflecting on the absurd over-emphasis Hollywood places on everything pertaining to its movie celebs.

Just why should a star's food-tastes be any criterion for the rest of the world? I've eaten with most of them and, so far as I can remember, they order just about the same staples as the rest of us—when they're not on a strict reducing diet. If anything, they are less choosy than the average man as a result of the hit-and-miss eating they have done in roadshow days.

Hollywood makes itself ridiculous by trying to sell the public the idea that actors are last-word authorities on every subject under the sun. Once a player becomes popular enough to have his name in lights, fan magazines cite his opinions on everything from military maneuvers to the price of eggs in China. "What do you think about the European political situation, Mr. Gable?" and "How can a girl hold her husband, Miss West?"

PERSONAL OBSERVATIONS: I seated, Bob Taylor always takes a hands-on-knees pose while pondering the interviewer's questions. If she doesn't know you're watching, Alice Faye usually looks as though she's on the verge of tears. Dolores del Rio, who used to pause long enough during conversations to translate English words into Spanish thoughts, now does her pausing when the conversation is in Spanish. And trick mannerisms: Fred Astaire's unconscious habit of massaging his forehead. Ask your favorite psychologist to fathom Gail Patrick's passion for bright red—it's her preferred color for clothes, cars and even ink.

MUTTERINGS: With Europe in the trenches, wonder if David Selznick would still turn down a million dollar profit for "Gone With the Wind?" Frantic urge: to sneak candid camera shots of Hollywood's glamorous gals as they look while gardening on their "ranches." Pre-ludes to mayhem: "We are parting the best of friends." It's a sad comment on audience taste that only one Academy Award winner—Bette Davis—has ever been given a "most popular-at-the-box-office" rating. Growl: How about a good role for Chester Morris—the man can really act. To say the least is not Hollywood's way of putting it.

CUFF NOTES: Add Roy Rogers to your list of Hollywood heroes—because of his kid following he yesterday rejected $5000 offered for his endorsement on cigaret ads... It's a dicker 'twist Republic and Duncan Renaldo—they want to buy his original story about the South American rubber industry and sign him for the leading role... Neal Wakeman, property man on the "Hardy Family" pictures has named his brand new baby boy "Andy Hardy" Wakeman...

Recreational Centers

Topic at Gathering

Waupaca — A. F. Wileon will be in Waupaca county at 8:30 in the evening of Sept. 26 at Manawa High school to discuss recreational training centers. Mr. Wileon is working through the office of the county agricultural agent in holding this discussion meeting.

Mr. Wileon will emphasize the recreation possibilities for this community. Often this recreational side is neglected and he believes that training schools for leaders who are interested in giving their community groups recreational facilities are possible without much expense.

Galilean Speaks At Clintonville

Discusses Palestine in Address Before Lions Club

Clintonville—The Lions club had as its guest Tuesday evening, Stephen A. Haboush, a twentieth century Galilean shepherd, who is on a lecture tour throughout the United States. Mr. Haboush talked on present conditions in Palestine and other nearby countries. He appeared in a program Wednesday evening at the Clintonville armory with his wife and two other men. Mrs. Haboush entertained eight guests at a 6:30 dinner Tuesday evening at her home on Thirteenth street. Two tables of contract were played, the prizes going to Mrs. Clarence Barker and Mrs. Leo Polzin.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Eberhardt and L. A. Heuer of this city were at Shawnee Tuesday evening where they attended a meeting of the Fox River Valley Funeral Directors' association. About 75 persons were served at a dinner at Hotel Bilmay, after which a business meeting was held. The next meeting will be held at Two Rivers.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Long of the Southside Gardens greenhouse entertained the Fox River Valley Florists' association Tuesday evening at the Parkview hotel. Over fifty were present. A business meeting was held at which Francis H. Higgins, advertising manager for the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, gave a talk on salesmanship. A cafeteria lunch was served at the close of the meeting. The association will convene in October at Neenah.

The Book Review club held its first meeting of the season Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. T. A. Landon on N. Main street. Two non-fiction books were reviewed. Mrs. Norman Hanson reported on "An Unfinished Life," the autobiography of Ruth St. Denis, in which she relates the story of her career as an interpretive dancer.

"The Inside Story of Europe," by John Gunther, was reviewed by Mrs. J. H. Stein. Having traveled extensively in Europe, Mr. Gunther described conditions in Germany, France, England, Russia and Poland following the World war and up to 1937 and 38.

The Band Boosters of the Clintonville public school will resume their monthly meetings at the high school at 7:30 Wednesday evening Sept. 27.

"CONCILIATION DIRECTORS"

Sacramento, Calif. —(7)—California is initiating a new effort to preserve the home from discord, under a law passed by the current legislature.

In divorce or separation cases involving a child or children, a state "director of conciliation" may take jurisdiction, investigate and hold hearings. Under certain conditions, the conciliator may call in physicians, sociologists or ministers of the gospel.

While the new officer can delay a divorce suit, he cannot permanently forbid either wife or husband to carry it through if desired.

Sacramento, Calif. —(7)—A new California law forbids intoxicated pedestrians to "walk or be on any roadway" if they constitute a hazard to themselves or others. The law provides no suggestion on how they're to get home.

Attorney General Gets Copy of Investigator's Reports

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The possibility that Attorney General John E. Martin's office may be called to investigate the affairs of the state real estate brokers board loomed today as it was revealed that Governor Heil's office has sent Martin a copy of the report of an investigation of the board made by August Frey, of the governor's research bureau.

At the same time it was reported that the governor wants to ask Martin formally to make an inspection of the board's books and records, and its activities.

Frey had earlier suggested to Heil that the governor ask for the resignation of William F. Gumm, chairman of the real estate board, because of "possible irregularities in the operation of the board."

Frey made his recommendation after he said his investigation showed that Gumm was taken undue advantage of the $10.00 per diem emoluments for services.

Demand for Refund
 The research department's investigation, said the governor's office, was substantiated by the board itself at a meeting recently when it demanded that Gumm return a portion of the per diem charges made by him for his work during July.

According to the records of the research department, Gumm collected a total of $3,950 for the services and $723.94 for expenses during the fiscal year ending in July, although the records of the real estate board showed that only 38 regular meetings were held. At this rate, the research department complained, Gumm had charged for services for every day of the year, excepting Sundays and holidays.

The release on the matter said that "the research department's investigation included inquiries into Gumm's frequent visits to his summer home at Eagle River, a period of hospitalization, and several days of activities in Green Bay during the period for which the state was charged for his services as a member of the board."

It was also learned that a resolution presented by the board by Harry B. Haley, another member, asking that the attorney general be apprised of Mr. Gumm's charges for services, and that the legality of such charges be investigated and that the board be instructed on procedure if the charges were illegal, was laid over at the last meeting and will be taken up at the next meeting.

Women Take More Active Part In Strife Than in World War

BY RUTH COWAN

Chicago—(P)—How is war—this war in Europe and in Asia today—changing the lives of women?

The World War revolutionized the lives of women.

Women in western Europe and America bobbed their hair, powdered their noses and invaded industry—and stayed there after the armistice.

Women in Turkey put aside their veils. More women in China walked on unbound feet.

Now that Mars has tossed the dice again, what of women?

News stories tell of women fighting in Warsaw. Pictures show Polish women in uniform—belted jackets, helmets and trousers—organized for duty behind the lines. Pictures show girls in slacks, women in "just any old thing" digging trenches.

Nurses' uniforms are a familiar sight again in belligerent countries—and it was only 85 years ago during the Crimean war that Florence Nightingale organized the first women's war-nursing corps.

Hold Other Jobs
 The World War accepted women nurses as a matter of course—and added women ambulance drivers, dispatch riders, canteen workers.

The labor of women in munition factories released men for the front.

Part of her duty is chauffeuring her dad's car.

The "wrens," English women's royal naval service of the World War, are recruiting again for non-combatant duties at naval posts. Women, including screen actress Glen Alyn, are volunteering for ambulance drivers. Women are volunteers as auxiliary pilots. Women are harvesting crops in Germany.

Since the World War, science has discovered how to store human blood for possible blood transfu-

Inspection Fund Made Available

Dairy Products to be Improved Through $160,000 Appropriation

Madison—(P)—The state department of agriculture had $160,000 available today for an inspection and grading program to improve the quality of Wisconsin dairy products.

Governor Heil signed a bill transferring that amount to the department from the $1,200,000 budget appropriation for eradication of Bangs disease in dairy herds. The Bangs disease allotment, it was found, exceeded actual requirements.

Sponsor of the bill was Assemblyman Ora Rice (R) Delavan.

The governor also signed a bill establishing a mandatory system for grading Wisconsin potatoes sold in lots of 4,000 pounds or more. Grades will conform with those of the United States department of agriculture and the costs of inspection will be collected from dealers to whom the service is furnished. The measure does not apply to producers selling direct to consumers nor to retail outlets in cities and villages under 2,000 population.

Another bill approved revises and makes more stringent the state law governing pharmaceutical business. It adds one year to educational requirements of applicants for pharmacist certificates, provides for semi-annual instead of quarterly examinations and doubles present fees. It also restricts the sale of household medical articles by stores other than pharmacies. The bill was advocated by the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical association.

Wiley Anxious to Keep U. S. Out of Conflict

Washington—(P)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) said Wednesday the world situation created by a European war presented a problem for the United States which required "thinking and not talking."

Expressing a desire to keep the United States out of the conflict, Wiley in a statement on neutrality questions to be considered by congress, said he wanted to listen to all arguments for the best course.

The senator, who returned a week ago from the interparliamentary union meeting at Oslo, Norway, foresaw a prolonged discussion of the neutrality proposals.

Definite Rules Established To Govern Modern Warfare

BY E. C. DANIEL

Washington—(P)—All's fair in love, perhaps, but not in war. Germany's complaint that the Poles had used mustard gas and Poland's charge that the Germans had bombed open towns are typical of the fouls claimed in wartime.

On the other hand, a German submarine commander's polite consideration for the crew of a torpedoed British merchant ship shows the scrupulousness with which the rules often are obeyed. Under the rules no such kindness is owed, however, to the crew of a warship like the sunken British aircraft carrier Courageous.

Rules of warfare are both written, in agreements among nations, and unwritten, in a tacit code of civilized conduct.

Underlying them are three principles: (1) Military necessity, that a belligerent is justified in using an amount or kind of force to win, but with due regard to (2) human-

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Sox-Cubs Series Will Open in Comiskey Park

Chicago—(P)—The Chicago city series between the National league Cubs and the American league White Sox will open with a night game at Comiskey park, the Sox home ground, on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Plans for the traditional series were worked out Wednesday at a meeting in the office of Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

The second game will be played at Comiskey park the afternoon of Thursday, Oct. 5. The next three games will be played at Wrigley field, the Cubs park, the afternoons of Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 6 to 8.

If additional games are needed to settle the championship, the teams will move to Comiskey park for a night game on Monday, Oct. 9, and an additional game the next day.

FAME OF "Williams Formula" SPREADS LIKE WILD-FIRE

People of Appleton Discover Amazing Relief for Run-Down, Dragg, Half-Alive Feeling, Caused by Acid Stomach and Lazy Elimination.

Enthusiastic men and women tell their neighbors and friends about this remarkable medicine—Williams Formula!

Every day more and more people are discovering this sensible way to relief from the painful discomfort of stomach gas, acid indigestion and that old, aching feeling caused by lazy elimination. Many well-known residents who have been suffering from sick-headaches, nervousness, dizziness and the "half-alive" feeling, declare they hardly believe the remarkable relief they have experienced from taking Williams Formula.

"I had only known about Williams Formula years ago," one woman said, "what a difference it might have made in my life." Similar words of praise for this famous medicine are heard on every side, and a veritable torrent of enthusiastic letters continue to pour in from grateful users.

One such letter was recently received from Minnie Popanda, well-known resident of West Bend, Wis. What she has to say should be of interest to every similar sufferer in this vicinity:

"I have been bothered for some time with painful distress in my stomach. Generally the suffering seemed worse after eating certain foods. I saw an ad in the paper telling about Williams Formula, and after taking this medicine, I am happy to say that it has been a wonderful help to me. I can eat many foods now without suffering those distressing stomach pains which have bothered me so much. Needless to say I am very happy to have found such a product, and I want everybody to know how much I think of this fine medicine."

Williams Formula is a compound of Valuable Herbs and other recognized ingredients, put up by a registered pharmacist, the same man who would fill a prescription for you.

If you are suffering from spells of dizziness, sick headaches, nausea, poor appetite, tired-out run-down, half-sick feeling due to acid stomach, poor elimination or iron-poor blood, you owe it to yourself and family to try Williams Formula. Ask your druggist to tell you more about this famous medicine which thousands of people over the country are using each day.

Williams Formula is sold at all better drug stores in three economical sizes to suit your convenience. It costs only a few cents a day to take and may be worth $10 a bottle to you for the relief it gives. Call at this drug store today, get a bottle of Williams Formula and start taking it now.
